

Bud Dixon Selected As Board's Vice-Chairman

Bud Dixon has been elected vice-chairman of the official board of First Methodist Church, Morehead City. Following the normal procedures, Mr. Dixon will be advanced to chairman of the official board of the church next year. This is the ranking lay position of the Methodist Church.

On Sunday, Sept. 7, the following people joined the church: Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Richardson and daughter Miss Mary Holt Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. McNeill and daughter, Janice, and Maj. and Mrs. John A. Reynolds.

The Rev. J. F. Herbert, the pastor, will preach at both services the coming Sunday. His morning subject will be "The Lord's Song." The evening message will have as its subject, "It's Up To You."

The first quarterly conference for First Church will be held in Mrs. Eure's classroom Tuesday evening, Sept. 16 at 7:30.

The Worker's Council for the church will be held at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 17, opening with a covered dish supper for the first hour. From 7:30 till 8 the pastor will lead the devotional, to which all in the church are invited. This will be the regular prayer meeting period.

At the conclusion of prayer service at 8 o'clock the Worker's Council will continue in a business session.

The Rev. Dr. A. J. Hobbs, superintendent of the New Bern district of the North Carolina Methodist Conference, met some of the leaders of the church Friday morning, Sept. 5, to begin organization for the Christian Higher Education campaign. This campaign, having as its purpose the establishment of two Methodist colleges in eastern North Carolina, will culminate at the close of the calendar year. W. B. Chalk has been appointed a member of the planning committee for the district.

Seven pastors and seven outstanding laymen will be members of this committee. The pastor, Mr. Herbert, is one of the pastors on this committee. Mr. Dixon and Walter Freeman have been appointed as members of the Special Gifts Committee of the district. Other leaders for this campaign will be announced as the organization for the local church is completed. A local church campaign chairman and six or nine members of the local church committee will be announced next week.

The Christian Higher Education campaign will seek to raise five million dollars throughout the conference by the first of January. This will match the five million dollars that was raised by the communities of Fayetteville and Rocky Mount last year.

The two new colleges are to be established at these two cities. The names of the colleges will be the Methodist College at Fayetteville and the North Carolina Wesleyan College at Rocky Mount. Already the two institutions have been organized. A president and board of trustees are already functioning for Methodist College at Fayetteville. A vice-president and board of trustees are functioning for North Carolina Wesleyan College at Rocky Mount. It is anticipated that each of these colleges will be open for day students within two years. The North Carolina Methodist Conference, in establishing two colleges is breaking all records of the denomination. Indeed, it has been quite a few years since a new Methodist college has been organized in the United States.

Bishop Paul N. Garber, leader of Methodists in the state, is given much of the credit for this advance in higher Christian education in North Carolina. It is estimated by higher education leaders that by 1970 the number of students applying for entrance to colleges in North Carolina will be double the present figure.

This means that even with two new colleges in the conference boundaries, still there will not be the facilities to receive all the young people applying for entrance to Methodist colleges. The Methodist church leads all denominations in America in the number of institutions for higher education that have been established.

Dr. Frank Crossley Morgan, who so inspired the church and entire city two years ago, will return to Morehead City Sept. 20 to begin a Bible Conference on the 21, which will continue through Sunday, Sept. 28.

Dr. Morgan is the son of Dr. G.

Tonight Mr. Register will be speaking especially to and for the youth. There will be special music, solos and choral selections. The public, and especially the youth, are invited.

Louisville, Ky., Pastor to Preach

Circles meeting Monday night are the Edith Broadway Circle with Mrs. A. N. Willis, the Mable Piner Circle with Mrs. M. L. Piner, and the Janice Lashley Circle with Mrs. Bernard Leary.

At 10 a.m. Tuesday the day circles, Women's Missionary Society, will meet, and at 6:15 p.m. the Brotherhood will convene.
