

Beaufort Residents Outline Program to Better Their Area

The Beaufort Community Development Corporation was organized at a meeting in the courthouse Monday night. Immediately after the naming of permanent committees, each committee submitted a list of projects it intends to complete.

Among the projects were the following: keeping the Newport River bridge in its present location, building a port terminal east of the Newport River, extending the Beaufort city limits and getting a ferry between Cedar Island and Ocracoke.

Temporary chairman W. H. Potter was elected as chairman for a one-year term. Vice-chairman will be Glenn Adair. Dr. David Farrior will be secretary, assisted by James Biggs. Dr. Theodore Salter was elected treasurer.

A model organizational outline was passed out to all present and was approved. In the outline were 10 permanent committees. They included legal, municipal affairs, roads and transportation, waterways and harbors, recreational facilities, schools, industry and agriculture, local business, programs and activities, and finance.

There were no volunteers for the legal, programs and activities or finance committees. Volunteers to serve on the other committees met to elect a chairman for each committee and to select projects for the committee.

Municipal Committee
The municipal affairs committee elected Holden Ballou as chairman. Committee projects are to extend the city limits, encourage more people to seek office and develop an area for colored housing. Members of the committee are James Davis Potter, J. P. Harris Jr. and Ronald Earl Mason.

Norwood Young, chairman of the roads and transportation committee, listed that committee's projects as building a bridge from Lennoxville across North River, promoting the Cedar Island-Ocracoke ferry and maintaining the Newport River bridge in its present location. Members of the committee are Glenn Adair, Gerald Hill, Tommy Potter, Odell Merrill and Dr. David Farrior.

Waterways Committee
The waterways and harbors committee elected J. O. Barbour Jr. as chairman. Committee projects are a port terminal east of the Newport River, building docks and dredging a waterway from the bulkhead through the new highway bridge.

Members of the committee are Charles Davis, Charles Owens, Alban Richey, C. D. Jones, Leslie G. Moore, Thomas D. Eure, David Beveridge, H. G. Simpson, J. R. Wheatley, Gerald R. Austin, Hugh Salter, Gene Smith and J. H. Neal. The recreational facilities committee proposes to develop the waterfront, plan local recreational program and increase tourist facilities. Members of the committee are C. R. Hassell, chairman, Stanley Potter, Rev. W. A. Hales, Rev. J. M. Cline, Earl Mades, Dave Hill, Rev. C. Edward Sharp, Mrs. W. R. Hamilton, Vincent Wright, George Lewis and M. Leslie Davis.

The schools committee program is built around consolidation of county schools. Members are B. E. Tarkington, chairman, Dr. Salter, Albert Chappell, John N. Miller, Gerald Troyer, Dr. M. T. Lewis, Clyde Temple, Mrs. Wiley Lewis, and Mrs. W. I. Loftin.

The industry and agriculture committee listed only one project: improving marketing facilities for farm products. Members of the committee are Braxton Adair, chairman, George Huntley Jr., Reginald Adams, Toke Clawson, B. J. May, Neal Campen, W. I. Ipoek, Pritchard Lewis, Ivey Gillikin, Ralph Thomas, Grant Leonard and Ralph Eudy.

Tourists Sought
The local business committee is primarily interested in bringing in more tourists. Their projects were attracting tourists and improving facilities for tourists.

Chairmen of the committees serve as the executive committee of the corporation. This committee nominates officers which are then elected by the membership.

Wiley Taylor Jr. has been commissioned to draw up papers for having the organization incorporated.

At the close of the meeting membership cards were presented to everyone making a donation or pledge to the corporation.

Each committee is supposed to meet again within seven days to complete organization within the committee and to list more projects that may have come up.

Good News About 4-H

There have been some very good 4-H Project Record Books completed and turned in this year. Some 4-H'ers have really done fine work and have the records to prove it.

Now I know that a lot more of you have projects, but unless you complete your record book and mail it to Mrs. Garner or me, we cannot give you the recognition you deserve.

So please, complete your record book and mail it to either the Home Demonstration Agent's Office or Farm Agent's Office, Beaufort, right away. I'm sure you would like to hear your name called at our Achievement Program the first part of November.

Tommy Garner, Allan Kelly, and Earl Kelly, Newport 4-H'ers, have a Fat Steer project this year. We went to the Rocky Mount Feeder Calf sale, sponsored by the NC Department of Agriculture and the NC Agricultural Extension Service last week to select and buy the steers.

There were over 1,300 steers and heifers sold, but the prices were a little too high for the animals suitable for this project and we didn't buy any. The next day, however, Allan and Earl's father, Jim Kelly, R. M. Williams, county agent and I attended a similar sale in Goldsboro where we purchased a steer for each of the boys.

The boys had the opportunity of seeing a livestock auction in Rocky supper and bake sale to be held Oct. 4.

Mrs. Edwards, mission study secretary, gave a brief outline of her plans for the studies. The first one, North American Neighbors, will be the last week in October.

At our general meeting in October Mr. and Mrs. Ted Christopherson will tell something of their life in Hawaii, and the Charleys will give highlights of their visit in Canada this summer. Slides will be shown.

In the absence of the Spiritual Life secretary, the meeting was closed with the group singing Sweet Hour of Prayer.

What? Bazaar, barbecue supper, bake sale!

Where? Educational building of St. James Methodist Church.

When? Oct. 4. Bazaar and bake sale begins at 5 o'clock. Barbecue supper from 5:30 to 7:30.

Don't forget or overlook this important date.

Mount where the cattle were graded before the sale and sold in uniform lots. I think they all learned some of the things to look for in grading and buying cattle.

Allan, Earl and Tommy will now feed the steers a complete ration of ground ear corn and supplement until next April. They will learn to feed and care for their steers. In April the boys will enter their steers in the Fat Stock Show in New Bern.

Before this time, they will have to halter break and teach the steer to stand correctly. They will also have to learn how to fit or groom a steer for show. All of you have seen pictures of prize steers but they must be groomed to look their best.

These steers should grade choice or prime by next April, so if you want some really good beef, start saving your money so you can bid on them at the show and sale next April.
