The Roaring Fifties

Hurricane History

Barbara — Aug. 13, 1953 — Barbara came in Thursday between 5 and 6 p.m. and continued roaring and raining until early the following morning. Wind velocity was clocked at 80 miles an hour at Cherry Point. Then the wind blew the wind measuring instrument away.

The 295-foot radio tower at WMBL, Morehead City, blew down. Vance Fulford Sr., Beaufort, was knocked unconscious when he fell 14 feet from a roof he was trying to fix during the storm.

Two cement block walls were blown out of the boat storage shed at the Morehead City Yacht basin. Trees, tv antennas, signs were blown down. Seven hundred persons left Atlantic Beach. Then Barbara continued inland.

Carol — Aug. 30, 1954 — Carol brought 5 1/4 inches or rain. Roads were flooded, phone lines down, power transformers blown down. The News-Times was 12 hours late going to press because of power failure. Set of bleachers at the Morehead City ballpark was blown over. Ocean Park Drive-In theatre fence, west of Morehead, was blown down.

Heaviest damage in Beaufort was J. P. Harris home, 213 Broad St., where shingles were ripped off west side, sheetrock was soaked and fell. Minimum and maximum temperatures 24 hours before storm hit were 70 and 85.

Hazel — Oct. 15, 1954 — Luxury liner Stockholm, scheduled to sail from Morehead City to Caribbean arrived at Morehead City 20 hours late due to storm.

In this Friday storm, wind did complete switch from northeast around to southwest, skipping northwest quarter entirely, thus causing extensive damage to boats anchored to take north wind. Barometer dropped to 28. North River bridge was washed out, piers, docks washed away, saltwater damage to vegetation was extensive.

Morehead City skating rink was blown down; front of Heart of Beach apartments at Atlantic Beach collapsed; Atlantic Beach Hotel lost dining room and front porch; numerous waterfront cottages lost front porches and were undermined.

Connie — Aug. 11, 12, 1955 — This storm lasted through a part of Thursday and Friday. Twelve inches of rain fell. Farm crops were hit the hardest. Road damage amounted to $60,000; beach damage $200,000. Parking lot at Fort Macon was under 2 feet of water. Temperatures were 70 degrees minimum to high of 83.

Diane — Aug. 16, 1955 — This was the second storm in a week. First reports said that the storm would go in on the Georgia coast, but she worked her way north. Gusts of wind were up to 82 miles an hour, rainfall 2.45 inches.

This storm started Tuesday and continued Wednesday. Lowest barometer reading, according to Coast Guard, was 29.28. Agnew Guthrie, 60, Morehead City, died of a heart attack Wednesday, Aug. 17, on way to shore to check his skiff.

Ione — Sept. 18, 1955 — Third storm in less than five weeks. Started Sunday and passed inland early Monday, Sept. 19. Winds blew at 100 miles an hour. There was no school; many roads were impassable. Total damage to farmers in Connie, Diane and Ione was estimated at $1,200,100.

1956 - 1957 — No storms.

Helene — Sept. 27, 1958

A Fishy Story

Sydney (AP)—A Sydney Harbor angler, using dough as bait, hauled up a saving bank pass book issued in the name of Mrs. K. M. Fisher, of Oyster Bay.

This kiddie ride at Atlantic Beach was blown over and heavily damaged during the storm. This appeared to be the only ride seriously damaged.

Milton Pratt Case Bound Over to Superior Court

Milton T. Pratt, Morehead City, was bound over to superior court under $300 bond by county recorder's court judge Lambert Morris Thursday. Judge Morris found probable cause that Pratt was guilty of hit and run driving in an accident near Sea Level Aug. 17.

Injured in the accident was Chesley R. Sabiston, Williston, who suffered a broken arm. Pratt reported to the sheriff after reading an account of the accident in THE NEWS-TIMES.

Alton Gaskill, charged with aiding and abetting Pratt in hit and run driving, was not tried due to lack of evidence. Gaskill was the owner of the car driven by Pratt and was with him at the time of the accident.

Fined $50

Lonnie W. Howard was fined $50 and ordered to pay court costs. He was found guilty of careless and reckless driving. Jack and Hubert Rose paid $50 and half-costs each for assault. D. C. Daugherty, also charged with the convicted pair, was not fined.

Five defendants paid fines of $25 and costs. They were Richard Schrom, no driver license and careless and reckless driving; E. L. Baysden, larceny; and James Hardesty, Dennis Gordon and William Vann, assault.

James E. Ginn and Donald C. White were fined $10 plus costs each. White was found guilty of causing an accident by following too close while Ginn was found guilty of causing an accident by failing to give a proper turn signal.

William Henderson paid costs for assault. Judge Morris remanded a case against Manly Garner to Newport mayor's court. Garner was charged with public drunkenness.

Bonds Forfeited

Those who forfeited bonds follow: James Hedden, passing bad checks; Richard E. Jones, public drunkenness and disorderly conduct; Cliff Hughes, public drunkenness and disturbing the peace; Walter M. Russell Jr., larceny and possession of stolen city property.

H. Denard Harris, permitting an unlicensed person to drive; William C. Garner, following too close resulting in an accident; Ivan Gillikin, driving on the wrong side of the road; Virgil W. Stroud, improper lights; Vannie E. Salter, public drunkenness; Frank Grantham, vulgar and profane language; Stuart C. Pigott, careless and reckless driving and improper muffler; Thomas D. Gillikin, improper lights and improper muffler; William Gray, public drunkenness and assault.

Robert D. Lancaster, following too close; Richard J. Regan and George M. Stockle, public drunkenness and having opened beer on the streets; and Ronald J. Brett and Edwin B. Leed, public drunkenness. The state elected not to try the following defendants: John R. Baddew, charged with speeding; Leon Johnson, charged with larceny; and Rocco Godette, charged with failure to yield the right of way. The state continued 71 cases.

Farm Specialists Visit Carteret

State College specialists in the county last week were J. A. Glazner, community planning; Bill Stanton, Plymouth, eastern district forestry agent; Melvin Kolbe, small fruits.

Mrs. Glazner accompanied Mr. Glazner who took pictures of the Gloucester community park and its barbecue pit. He said he believes Gloucester's park is the only community enterprise in the state which has facilities for barbecuing.

The Glazners were here Thursday. Mr. Stanton was here Wednesday. Mr. Kolbe came Tuesday and visited William Piner and Cyrus Bell in the Pelletier section. Mr. Piner is putting in four acres of grapes and Mr. Bell is planting a commercial peach orchard.

R. M. Williams, farm agent, went to Burgaw Friday. There county agents received instruction in small fruit production—strawberries, blueberries and dewberries.

Representatives of the State College horticultural and pathology departments discussed phases of production, disease and insect control.

Insurance company statisticians predict that there will be a national upswing in marriages in the early 1960s when the record number of postwar babies reach marriageable age.
