

Seadogs, Farmville to Meet In Beaufort Homecoming Tilt

The Beaufort Seadogs will play host to Farmville tonight in the annual Beaufort homecoming game. In addition to a top-notch ball game, fans will see the crowning of Miss Seadog and Miss Junior Seadog during halftime ceremonies.

There will be a parade down Front Street this afternoon after school. Every organization in school will have a float in the parade. The band will march as usual, but there will be added features, such as horsemen.

When things settle down for the ball game, fans can expect to see a real battle. Last year Farmville and Beaufort clashed at Farmville in the first round of the state play-offs.

The game, played in foul weather, ended in a scoreless deadlock and Farmville advanced in the play-offs because of more yardage gained. Seadog coach V. M. Morrison predicts anything but a scoreless tie in tonight's game.

"I know that Farmville has a good team," he says. "They have won two games in the conference while losing only once. The Seadogs are coming right along, too. I think the boys have done pretty well for inexperienced players but they still have a long way to go.

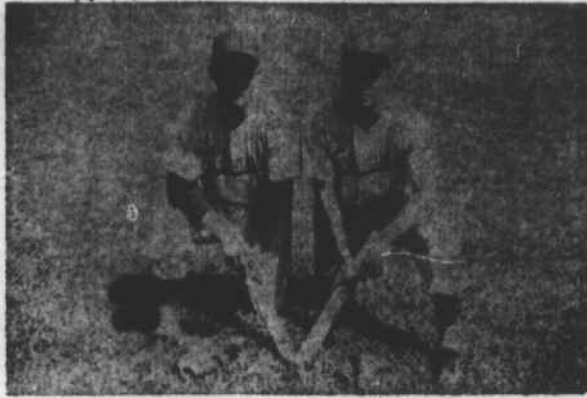

"With Butch Hassell in the quarterback slot our passing attack has really improved. Pud Hassell is a great receiver and you can figure he will hang on to the ball once he gets it.

"Pud will probably pass some from halfback, too. That gives us a left-handed passer on the left side and a right-handed passer under the center.

"I will tell you now that we are going to fill the air lanes tonight. This will give the home folks a chance to see an aerial circus like the pros put on. We will have a flanker out on nearly every play," he declared.

Coach Morrison plans to start the following boys: Lonnie Dill, center; Joe Powell and Gray Simpson,

McIntosh Stars for Colonials

Bradley McIntosh Jr., left, former Morehead City High athlete, batted .333 for the Fort Myer Colonials this year. The Colonials wound up their season recently with a 31-16 record.

McIntosh collected 44 hits in 132 times at bat. The only player to get more hits was Roy Mallane, right, who got 45 hits in 135 trips to the plate for an identical .333 average.

Jaycees Report Game Receipts

Morehead City Jaycee president Jerry Willis announces that ticket sales, including season tickets, for the current football season total $2,662. A complete report on the football program was made at the Jaycee meeting at the Blue Ribbon Club Monday night.

Gates for the three home games to date follow: Swansboro, $777; Jones Central, $300; and Havelock, $785. Season ticket sales total $900. The Jaycees have taken in $241 at the concession stands.

Dick Spears, chairman of the fire prevention program, told of the work his committee had done in preparation for fire prevention week. It included placing posters in business buildings, publicity through the various news media and making personal contacts. There were fire drills at all schools in town during the week.

Guest speaker at the meeting was H. L. Joslyn, county school superintendent. Mr. Joslyn spoke on the necessity of having better schools.

FabFish Trophy Contest Enters Final Three Weeks

By BOB SIMPSON

With only three weeks left in the Fabulous Fishermen's trophy tournament, anglers will want to try to beat some of the existing records: blue marlin, 11 feet 4 inches; sailfish, 7 feet, 1/4 inch; king mackerel, 45 pounds; spanish mackerel, 7 pounds; bluefish, 10 pounds; dolphin, 39 1/2 pounds; false albacore, tied at 20 pounds; wahoo, 76 pounds; grouper, 47 1/2 pounds; red snapper, 28 1/2 pounds; cobia, 62 1/2 pounds; tarpon, 87 pounds; amberjack, 58 pounds; tuna, 12 1/2 pounds; sheephead, 8 pounds; flounder, 5 pounds; pompano, 3 pounds; sea mullet, 2 pounds.

There are no entries yet on channel bass and trout, but some of the weighing stations have not reported recently. A reminder to individual members, those who took $5.00 a year memberships, you are eligible for any trophy, and the possibilities are very good in the trout and channel bass departments.

The week had a disagreeable beginning, but in spite of it we had good reports: offshore boats continued to get kings, though in reduced numbers; ocean pier fishermen kept on getting lots of spots, with plenty of blues and speckled trout.

Drift fishermen kept up a good record for blues and flounder, and one party caught 152 blues on cut bait just inside the inlet; they were fishing for only two hours. Via the grapevine we hear that Jack Windley of Beaufort, surf fishing at Shackleford, caught 25 nice speckled trout.

With Thursday dawning bright and clear and the winds tamed to gentle-to-moderate, the outlook for the weekend is very good in all departments. Even the sound piers, which have to take a beating in a nor-easter should do well.

We asked Gerald Smith about the replacement of the section of pier removed by the storm. "Coming along pretty well," was his answer. "Folks could fish right now if they could jump that far."

Cribbage is one card game that makes little demand on the memory, but emphasizes judgment in the play of the cards.

Monarchs Call off Game With Queen Street High

The W. S. King-Queen Street football game scheduled for tomorrow night has been called off. W. S. King principal S. R. McLendon called the game off early in the week, primarily because of an incident involving Beaufort and Morehead City Negro boys at a football game last week.

No decision has been reached as to whether the game will be played at a later date. The game was scheduled to have been played in Morehead City.

Morehead, Wallace Game Tops East Gridiron Slate

The big game in eastern North Carolina will be played at Wallace at 8 tonight when the Morehead City Eagles and the Wallace-Rose Hill Bulldogs tangle for the lead in the AAC Coastal Plains Conference. Both teams have been pointing for this game all year and should be ready to get down to business.

This will be the first time the teams have met during the regular season. Before, they always clashed in state play-offs. Last year the Wallace game was considered by most fans to be the most exciting game of the year for the Eagles.

Despite the fact that the Eagles dominated the play, Wallace held a lead going into the final minutes of play. It took a last-ditch Eagle rally to produce a 19-14 victory over the Bulldogs.

There are plenty of fans at Wallace who declare their team should have won last year and the Bulldogs are out to reverse the decision this season. The team that wins tonight will be virtually assured a spot in the state play-offs.

According to the Greensboro Daily News poll, the Bulldogs are the top AAC team in the state. The same poll has the Eagles in the number three position with Ahsokie sandwiched between.

In pre-season predictions Wallace was given plenty of publicity as the logical successor to Morehead City's AAC championship. The Eagles, who lost eight first string players through graduation and Gerald Jones through ineligibility, were not considered a strong threat.

The Bulldogs have lived up to their advance notices, winning five straight games, most of them by convincing margins. The Eagles, on the other hand, have upset the apple cart for the pre-season experts.

After losing an opening game verdict to New Bern, the Eagles have won four straight, the last three by shutouts. The defensive play of the Eagle line has been tremendous in shutting the scoring door on Swansboro, Jones Central and Havelock.

Coaches Norman Clark and Hugh Gordon give credit to the amazing show of the Eagles to the rapid development of some green ball players. One of the outstanding examples is Jerry Garner, a senior tackle.

Even though he is a senior, Garner is out for his first year of foot-year and are living up to expectations. With the possible exception of New Bern, Wallace will be the sternest test of the season for the Eagles. Coach Thell Overman has a rugged crew that knows plenty of football.

Both teams will probably unveil new plays for the game, though no drastic formation changes or "secret weapons" are predicted. Both teams operate on the theory that the team that wants to win the most and plays the hardest usually wins. Regardless of which team wins, the winner will consider tonight's game the "big one."

Golf Clinic

C. C. McCuiston, golf pro at the country club, will conduct a golf clinic at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, weather permitting. The clinic will be for children of members only. The charge is 25 cents per child.

Rooftop Recreation

Akron, Ohio (AP) — The playground for Zion Lutheran School is on its roof. There was no space around the downtown area building for play, so the youngsters got up on top. High walls protect them.

Morehead Eagles Hold Third Place In Grid Ratings

The Morehead City Eagles remained in third place in the weekly Greensboro Daily News poll Wednesday. Wallace-Rose Hill was ranked on top, followed by Ahsokie.

The Eagles and Wallace will tangle tonight for the Coastal Plains Conference title. Each has won one game in the conference. Wallace has a victory over Pamlico and Morehead City holds a decision over Jones Central.

The Eagles are expected to have little trouble disposing of Pamlico, while Wallace will be favored to whip Jones Central when those teams meet.

The big game in the east will be at Wallace tonight. Coaches Norman Clark and Hugh Gordon say it will be a real battle and suggest that all Eagle fans make plans to attend the game to give the boys a boost from the stands.
