The Morehead City School PTA has an unusual program planned for Monday night at 7:30 p.m. Parents, after a brief instruction period, will have the opportunity to go to the room where their own children are taught, for the program.

Demonstration lessons in reading, arithmetic, spelling, and other subjects will be taught in the grades. Parents can see and hear exactly how children are taught. Later they will have opportunity to ask questions and discuss the learning process with the teacher.

High school and junior high parents will meet with the home room teachers and then attend two of their children's classes, which will be shortened to about fifteen minutes each.
