During the meeting a committee was appointed to select the Woman of the Year from our club. Discus-sion was centered around accessories for the home. A pamphlet on fig culture was distributed.

We were told figs were suppose to bear in three to four years but no one has had such good luck. In fact, most said their's didn't bear at all. My husband, Mac, put some out about 12 years ago and three bushes yielded about two quarts

The ones his mother put out when he was a boy hang full of fruit every year and in their peak pro-duce several pecks a day. Let's not be too discouraged if our trees do not bear when we think they should, for maybe our grandchil-dren will enjoy the fig trees.
