

Seadogs to Play Host To Ayden Team Tonight

Halfback Pud Hassell Will Sit out Contest

The Beaufort Seadogs will play host to Ayden at eight tonight in a Coastal Conference football game. A victory for the Seadogs will boost them into third place in conference standings.

With the exception of halfback Pud Hassell, the Beaufort eleven is in top shape for the contest. Hassell, who sprained an ankle against Robersonville last week, is expected to sit the game out.

Coach V. M. Morrison says that George Noe will probably get the starting assignment at Hassell's halfback post. Eddie Taylor will be running from the other halfback slot.

Fullback Ernest House and quarterback Butch Hassell complete the starting backfield for the Seadogs. Guion Dudley is expected to see action as a defensive man and on kickoff and punt returns. He has had trouble learning blocking assignments and seldom plays on offense though he is the fastest man on the team.

In the line, the Seadogs will rely on their same starting combination. Calvin Jones and Gordon Becton will be at ends. David Willis and John Smith at tackles, Joe Powell and Gray Simpson at guards and Lonnie Dill at center.

The Seadogs have compiled a 4-2 won-lost record this year in what was supposed to be a rebuilding year at Beaufort. Beaufort has scored victories over Vanceboro, Camp Lejeune, Farmville and Robersonville. Only LaGrange and Havelock have been able to take the measure of the Seadogs this year.

Coach Morrison, already looking ahead to next year, says that the Seadogs should improve with another year's seasoning. All of the backs will be returning for another year and only Becton and Smith will be missing from the starting line.

In speaking of tonight's game, Coach Morrison says he expects a very tough battle. Ayden won a 27-6 victory over Contentnea last week and should be fired up for night's contest.

After a slow start Ayden has come on fast and is a real threat to any team in the conference. Coach Morrison is not selling Ay-

Demerit System Goes Into Effect at AHS

By EVELYN HARRIS

Hi, I'm back to bring you more news from AHS after a wonderful time at state fair but we were a wee bit sleepy after such a long journey. We're home at last and ready to go to work again.

I talked to a few of the seniors today and they have elected some of their superlatives. They are not quite finished, so I'll have to give them to you next week; keep your eyes open for the superlatives.

The NCEA met at Kinston last Friday and Atlantic High was represented 100 per cent.

I forgot to mention last week about the home ec class winning a blue ribbon this year at the county fair. They have done a swell job representing AHS. Let's hope they keep it up.

The students of Atlantic High would like the consideration of everyone attending basketball games or just visiting the gym. Please keep off the floor with street shoes on. Taps on your shoes will scar the floor and we wouldn't want that to happen. Our gym floor looks very nice. Please help us keep it that way. Thank you.

The Demerit System was put into action Monday morning. Demerits this year will be given for discourtesy to teacher (3), skipping class (2), being in hall without permission (1), improper conduct in hall (1), misbehaving in chapel or 4-H (2), misbehaving in cafeteria (1), cheating (4), smoking outside hut (3), being on steps to either auditorium or girls rest rooms (1), improper conduct in hut (2), misbehaving on school bus (2), minor offense to teacher (1), using profane language (2).

The only people allowed to give demerits are the following: Student Council members, monitors in hall, bus drivers on bus, and teachers. When you have received 7 demerits you will be expelled for one day, 14, 2 days, and when you have 21 demerits, you will be expelled from AHS for good. Be careful, students, we wouldn't want to miss your shiny faces one of these blue mornings.

I'll be back next week with more news, so keep your eyes peeled for this column. Be good.

The Morehead City Eagles have an open date tonight and will play their final scheduled game next Friday when they play host to the Beaufort Seadogs.

The Eagles will get in some scrimmage time and work out their kinks next week. This is the only open date of the season for the Morehead City team.
