Christmas Blossoms Out At Queen Street School

When school opened in September we were happily surprised to see that our room had a new look. Our walls were painted a beautiful shade of lemon and brown. The floors were cleaned and waxed and all around us was quite beautiful.

In language Arts we wrote letters and Christmas poems. Here's one we would like to pass on to you.

The Christmas Angel Once I saw a Christmas angel Peeping from the heavenly realms I saw it every night I slept I saw how it was kept.

The Christmas angel I saw at night Was always in the brightest light, The angel I saw was sweet and kind, She helped me to do the things I mind.

—Cheryl Turner, Grade 4C

Grades 5 and 6 are now decorating the Christmas tree with decorations that were made Wednesday and Thursday of last week. We were very happy that James Crooms got our tree for us this morning.

We have our creative work in the front of our classroom. Each person was given the opportunity to express his idea of Christmas on paper. Our creative work is followed by pictures that represent Our Christmas Wish on an adjoining bulletin board space. These pictures wish every one a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

To the rear of the rooms we have expressed our ideas through many illustrations, namely: The Christmas Story, The carolers singing Silent Night, Social Studies—The Jamestown Story; Reading—Illustrating Dr. Doolittle's Book by Hugh Lofting; Arithmetic, Lay that Pencil Down and Language, Where Do I Belong?

Our windows say, "Merry Christmas" in the snow.

We are now approaching the Yuletide Season, which is the celebration of the Birth of Christ. It is indeed the greatest birthday of all times. With this in mind, we really have the Christmas Spirit.

When we returned to school from our Thanksgiving holiday, we began talking about Christmas and its meaning.

During our morning devotionals we are reading stories and Bible verses about the birth of Christ. We are also singing Christmas Carols and telling stories from pictures.

We are thankful to Mrs. M. O. Davis for her guidance during our activities.

Our Christmas decoration consists of a scene of the manger, palm trees, camels, candles, bells, Santa, the sleigh and reindeer and many other items.

The 6C and 7A classroom is beautifully decorated for the Yuletide season. The party-glass door through which we enter our classroom has a motif of holly leaves and red berries painted on the center window pane and the words "Season's Greetings".

Candles are painted on the bottom panes. The words—Joy, Joy, Joy are on the top panes. Also on the door is an ornament made of red and green foil with a pretty red bow.

The borders on our blackboards are Christmas Carols near a brightly colored Christmas tree in the forest with various kinds of animals standing near. The other border is a scene of Santa Claus
