Candidate Visits County Tuesday

John Larkins is very much in the race for governor.

The Jones county candidate for the top position in the state visited Carteret Tuesday with his friend, Libby Ward, New Bern, who has long been recognized as a political whip in eastern Carolina.

Those who spoke with Larkins said he has no intention of bowing out and running, instead, for Congress.

This was suggested by some after Rep. Graham Barden announced last weekend that he would not seek re-nomination in May.

Mr. Larkins and Mr. Ward traveled east to Atlantic Tuesday, returned and went to Kinston Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Barden, who some thought may visit the county this week, did not appear. State Sen. James O. Simpkins, who is considered one of the numerous candidates for Barden's seat, was also in the county Tuesday.

Club Women To be in Parade

Members of county Home Demonstration clubs will march in Beaufort's 251st anniversary parade next July in costumes of other nations. They will carry the flags of those nations also.

Plans for participation in the parade were made at a meeting of the citizenship and international relations club leaders Tuesday morning at the home agent's office, Beaufort.

The costumes were made by club women throughout the state and are kept at Raleigh. They will be borrowed for the parade. Nations represented will be those belonging to the United Nations.

Each Carteret Home Demonstration club will study this year six countries that are members of the UN. They will learn of their customs, habits, living conditions, and will dress dolls in native costumes.

An "international luncheon" has been planned for Oct. 24, UN Day.

At Tuesday afternoon's meeting, Mrs. Floy Garner, home agent, gave instructions on conducting the February club meeting, which will be in charge of the international relations leaders.

Attending the training session were Mrs. G. C. Dunn, Wildwood; Mrs. Ray Hilbert, Broad Creek; Mrs. Beh Jones and Mrs. Foster Morris, Russells Creek.

Mrs. Will Dall, North River; Mrs. Frieda McCabe and Mrs. Glenn Winberry, Bogue; Mrs. Guy Carraway and Mrs. J. M. Stallings, Merrimon; Mrs. Herman Taylor and Mrs. Lew Sawrey, Pelletier, and Mrs. Cicero Taylor, Harlowe.

Bank Contributes To 4-H Foundation

Commercial National Bank has joined with other North Carolina banks in national support of 4-H Club work, according to R. E. Butler Jr., vice-president.

The contribution was made, Mr. Butler said, to the National 4-H Club Foundation near Washington, D. C., as part of a nation-wide fund-raising program.

Commercial National Bank has supported local 4-H programs for several years, Mr. Butler stated. The bank felt the National 4-H Foundation provided an excellent opportunity to broaden their support of the 4-H movement.
