What Was It?

Reginald Lewis, Morehead City, reports that he saw a satellite "or something" in the sky Sunday night that was not the Air Force balloon, Echo I.

He was sitting on his porch trying to spot Echo I about half an hour before it was to appear Sunday night and saw a moving object, like Echo I, which moved out of the northwest and went south.

He said he spotted it at 10:34 p.m. and it took several minutes for it to pass out of sight.

He's interested in knowing if anyone else saw it. With all the man-made things flying around up in the air, perhaps these days you're liable to see anything.
