

Newdale Fire Dept. Example Of Community Action

Let us go back to the year of 1963. But why would this year be so significant? For some people in the county it wouldn't be but for some Citizens in the eastern part of the county it seems very important.

A group of men got together—they all had something in common—an idea for a volunteer fire department that would cover the Newdale, Arbuckle, Mica-ville and out surrounding areas.

They began working together for this goal. These men put in many hours of hard work but it paid off. With the cooperation of the general public, the building was built in 1964 and is now worth, equipment and all, around $10,000.00.

This is a self-perpetuating project and shows what can be done if people see a need and then begin to do something about it. This is what is meant by "Community Action." Many people do not understand what this means. Well, this project is a very good example.

Now, four years later, there is still something missing. Water. And what is a Fire Department worth without water? What have the firemen been using? Water, of course, but they have to pump it out of creeks. Water needs to be closer in order to keep the trucks full for the next emergency. Having to pump water is inconvenient and takes time. Time, as you know, is a very important factor in case of fire.

With all the hard work the men have done, they still need help. Charles Crowder, Fire Chief, made arrangements with the N.Y.C. Sanitation Crew to put in the water line, build a reservoir and septic tank. Mr. Crowder said, "The Neighborhood Youth Corps did real work—a satisfactory job."

Not one, not two — but approximately 400 families will benefit from the work done by the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

In the near future there will

Teachers Receive New Service

Elementary and secondary school teachers and administrators in the Burnsville area will receive, starting in January, a new service designed to help them plan their curriculum so that it is completely up to date on new developments in education.

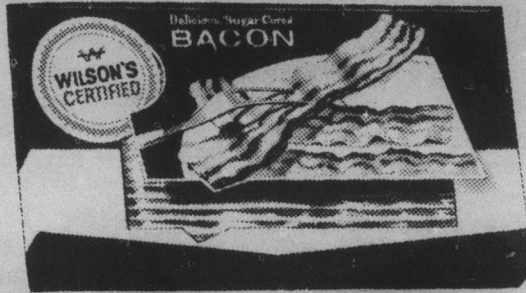

For the first time, the myriad of instructional materials and service to the school field will all be listed by curriculum and cross-indexed by types of services and resources in a master reference work that also includes actual catalogs of leading companies supplying the needs of schools.

Called the PRIME Catalog, the directory-buyers' guide is provided free of charge to curriculum planners by Educators PRIME Information Service, Route 46, Totowa, New Jersey. The organization also supplies another free service to educators in the form of the PRIME Reports, a twice-monthly review of new technology and methods in the educational field. Costs of the various services are borne by leading companies which present their catalogs in the directory.
