(Cont'd from page 1) and property; and several places are under active consideration. The Board of Directors are giving much thought to beginning Girls Haven in Fayetteville where a home is ready to become known as Girls Haven, and can accept up to five girls. Also, 90 acres of land being given to Girls Haven located near Boys Home, Lake Waccamaw, will probably have the first cottage unless Yancey

CAP Acts

The following members of the Mountain Wilderness Composite CAP Squadron reported to search headquarters at Hickory Airport: Ray V. Miller, Benjamin Wilson, Frank Fagan, and Taylor Teague. In addition, Robert McPhee, Edward Yuziuk and Carolyn Yuziuk remained on stand by in case a ground search party was needed in the Roan Mountain area.

According to Ray Miller, Deputy Commander of the Yancey CAP unit, the plane wreckage was found by a Civil Air Patrol plane from Virginia.

County can act soon. Boys Home is located in a county about five times as large as Yancey County; however, the impact of Boys Home in two areas is very important. It has helped improve the school system and Boys Home has been an economic boost to Columbus County. Girls Haven can have an even greater impact on Yancey County.

However, the most important point is the impact that can be felt by the many girls to be served. Girls Haven can offer these girls an opportunity to finish school and to become active citizens. This can be done in any section of North Carolina; however, Yancey County can have this opportunity if positive action is forthcoming.

Classes Held

McDowell Technical Institute will sponsor a Physical Fitness class for women beginning on Monday night, June 7, 1971 at 7:00 p.m. in the East Yancey High School gym. The instructor for the class will be Miss Laura Young, instructor of Health and Physical Education at East Yancey High.

Anyone interested in the class should be at East Yancey on June 7, 1971 at 7:00 p.m. to register.

Communities In Development Program

needs. Over the years a tremendous variety of projects have been completed.

The development program is sponsored by the agricultural agencies in each county in cooperation with local sponsors and the Agricultural Development Council. Area awards totalling nearly $6,000 will be awarded next fall to the communities that make the most progress. Over $10,000 in local awards will be presented in the various counties.

Communities will be divided into three divisions for judging. One division is for those communities with less than 75 families, another for 75 to 150 families and one for those with over 150 families. All communities will be judged on the basis of community-wide projects, youth programs, better family living and increased income.

There is also a special contest involving youth programs and another for roadside improvement. A total of 59 areas entered the roadside contest.

Area awards and sponsors of the program are as follows: Division A (less than 75 families), $400, first prize, Sears-Roebuck Foundation; $300, second, The Northwestern Bank; $200, third, Ivey's of Asheville and $100, fourth place, Gerber Products Company. Eleven honorable mention awards of $50 each are sponsored by Lowe's of Asheville, Arbor Acres, K-mart, Matthews Motors, FCX, Inc., Biltmore Dairy Farms, Rose's-Westgate, Cherokee Historical Association and American Thread Co.

Division B (75-150 families) $400 first prize, American Enka Corp.; $300, second, J.C. Penney Co.; $200 third, Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Asheville and $100 fourth, Sealtest Foods. Honorable mention awards of $50 each are provided by Gerber Products Co.; Belk's, Earle-

Chesterfield Mill, Sky City, The Man Store, Pearlman's Home Furnishing Center, Sears-Roebuck Foundation and Cherokee Historical Association. Division C (over 150 families); $400 first prize, Asheville Citizen Times Co.; $300 second, Champion Papers-Drexel Enterprises; $200 third, General Electric Co. and $100 fourth, Moores Super Stores.

Many people have been asking about opening dates of our recreation areas and whether we will charge an entrance fee again this season. All National Forest Recreation Areas in North Carolina are now open and there will be an entrance fee at certain areas again this year. However there have been some changes over last year.

We feel that the large response that the Festival got in spite of the rain is an indication not only of a real interest in activities for older people around the county, but a real need for more of them as well. We invite everyone who attended the Festival to share their observations and suggestions about it with the Department of Social Services. They will be helpful in planning the next year's Festival of Friendship and in helping us follow-up with smaller projects as well.

The Golden Eagle Passport which sold for $7.00 last year will be $10.00 this season, and will permit access of one non-commercial vehicle and all its occupants to all Forest Service areas where fees are collected. Those without the passport are charged $1.00 per vehicle per day as an entry fee. It also permits use of most day use facilities and services. The only exception to this is for certain highly developed areas in Florida and Virginia where a special user fee is charged in addition to the Golden Eagle Passport.

The recreation charge areas on National Forests in North Carolina are: Black Mountain, Carolina Hemlock, Coontree, Davidson River, North Mills River, Lake Powhatan, White Pines, Cliffside Lake, Standing Indian, Hanging Dog, Jackrabbit Mountain, Vanhook Glade and Neuse River on the Croatan National Forest.

According to a Park Service spokesman, the Golden Eagle Passport cannot be used as credit towards campground fees on the Blue Ridge Parkway or in National Parks this year. In National Parks where an entrance fee is charged the Golden Eagle Passport can be used for entrance but the additional camping fee will still be charged.

The Golden Eagle Passports can be purchased at any U.S. Forest Service Office. Offices are located in Asheville, Robbinsville, Murphy, Franklin, Highlands, Pisgah Forest, Burnsville and Marion in Western North Carolina and in Troy and New Bern in the East.

We plan to begin our Campfire Programs at Black Mountain Campground on June 10 and continue through Labor Day. Programs will be presented each Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at our Dark Hollow Amphitheater. Starting time will be about 8:00 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend these programs.

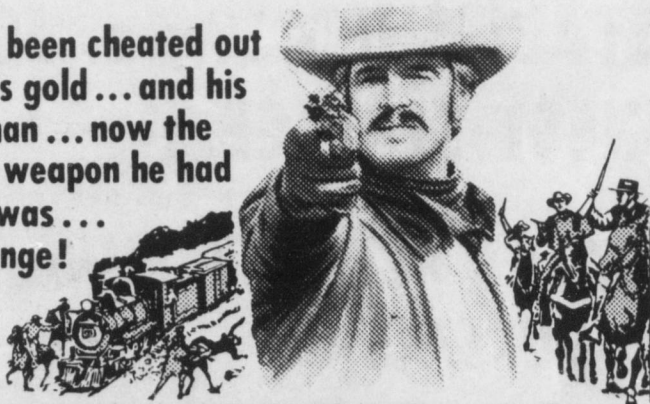

We will also begin our conducted nature hikes Saturday, June 12 at 2:00 p.m. and continue each Saturday thereafter through the Labor Day weekend. The hikes will start from the Dark Hollow Amphitheater at Black Mountain Campground and will last about 1 hour.

We are expecting an average bloom of the Purple Rhododendron on Roan Mountain this year. The peak bloom period should occur around June 20.
