MAMA

Two Years ago this morning just as the clock struck nine God called you home to be with him and we were left behind. We know that you are resting now and will have no pain. We cannot question Gods work for that would be in vain. How our hearts are saddened as we think of you each day. Time goes by so slowly since you went away. We'll linger here a few more days and try to do our best. And you said Mama that God would do the rest.
