"Wagons Ho" To Be Cry At Andrews On July 2

ANDREWS - "Wagons ho" That's the cry that will be heard again at daybreak on the morning of July 2 as the annual Wagon Train celebration gets underway.

The wagons will start rolling from the Riding Ring, traveling up the Junaluska Rd. from Andrews to the cut off leading to Big Choga. From Big Choga they will go to Tull Gap and down through Tusquittee into Hayesville for the first overnight stop. The camp site will be near the Hayesville v. f. w. building.

Word from Hayesville reaching here indicated that the folks of Clay County are planning a real wing-ding-dancing-eating story telling-knife swapping-and horse talk to keep things lively for both young and old.

The Train will leave Hayesville early on July 3 and travel by Mission Dam to Peachtree School, arriving around noon.

Camping facilities will be ready at the school, and the Train will spend that afternoon and night resting up, with probably a good bit of cooking, eating and fun included.

Wagon Master again this year is Capt. Frank Swan, with Cliff Penland of Hayesville signing on for a second ride as assistant Wagon Master.

On Saturday morning, July 4, the Wagon Train will pull on to Andrews, traveling via Marble, up the river road through Fairview into town, arriving at 2:00 p.m. for the Big Parade.

Everyone is invited to join the Train this year.

Democratic Run Off Primary To Climax Saturday, June 27

One of the hardest fought campaigns in the political history of North Carolina will reach a climax Saturday, June 27, when Dan Moore of Canton meets Richardson Preyer in the run-off primary for Democratic nomination for Governor.

The Lieutenant Governorship nominations will also be decided Saturday when Robert W. (Bob) Scott faces House Speaker Clifton Blue.

Preyer and Moore came out winners in a five man race when Dr. I. Beverly Lake, one of the top three contenders was eliminated. Preyer polled 281,430 votes, Moore 257,872, Lake 217,172. Brewer, Burleson and Stansbury combined, polled 12,616. Preyer led Moore by 23,558 votes.

In Cherokee County Moore polled 2545 votes to Preyer's 109; Scott pulled 1864 to Blue's 269. In Clay County Moore received 574 votes to Preyer's 101; Blue polled 182 to Scott's 165.

Dan K. Moore, a native of the mountains, not only polled a heavy mountain vote but took a sizeable vote in the Piedmont and Eastern sections. Moore is a man who has built his campaign from grassroot and took on the role of top contender in the second primary when Dr. I. Beverly Lake threw his support to Moore, putting Preyer in the underdog position.

Moore's positive program is for improved education, more jobs, better job opportunities, highway and other improvements.

Preyer's platform has listed his program as an improved road program, lobby control act, job opportunities and education.

A much larger number of voters is expected to turn out in the second primary. Polls will be open at the regular polling places from 6:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Levi Strauss To Expand Work Force

MURPHY - John Ellis, manager of the Murphy Office, Employment Security Commission of North Carolina, has announced that the Murphy Plant of Levi Strauss Co., Inc., proposes an expansion of their female work force within the next few weeks.

The Employment Office is now taking applications for Levi Strauss. They have requested that any women, between the ages of 18 and 35, living within a reasonable commuting distance of Murphy, who are interested in this work, please go by the Employment Office to complete a company application.

The management of Levi Strauss has stated that emphasis should be placed on the 18-35 age group.

It has been requested that interested women not try to contact Levi Strauss regarding this, but to report directly to the Employment Office.

After the completion of the applications, all qualified women will be called in for testing within the next two or three weeks. Those who qualify will be referred directly to the plant.

While the Employment Office is not at liberty to disclose the number of women needed, it is known that a large group will be necessary.

The Levi Strauss Plant set up a pilot plant here in Nov., 1963, and is presently employing 175 people on a full time scale.

Applications must be in the employment office no later than Friday July 10 for processing.

EARTH MOVERS BEGAN WORK Tuesday, June 23, at the Textured Yarn Plant at Peachtree on their thirty-two thousand square foot addition. This addition doubles the size of the original plant.

Ground Breaking Begins- Textured Yarn Grows

PEACHTREE - Textured Yarn Company, Inc., announced today ground breaking in its expansion program at Murphy.

According to Nathaniel A. Gladding, Jr., Director of Production for the company, the addition of 32,000 square feet will double the plant's productive capacity and warehousing facilities.

Ronald Ressel, plant manager, expects completion of the addition by September 15, 1964, and anticipates the need for additional expansion within two years.

The Murphy plant was acquired December, 1961, and has been used for the production of continuous filament nylon carpet yarns.

Dillard Construction Company of Sylva, N. C., has been awarded the contract to build the addition to the plant.

Newell Crisp, construction superintendent for Dillard, of Hayesville, will oversee the job.

Architects are Foy and Lee from Waynesville, N. C. who were also the architects on the elementary school here in Murphy.

Two Charged With Vandalism And Larceny

MURPHY - Tommy Nelson 21, and Tommy Elrod, 21, both from the Liberty section of Cherokee County are being held in the county jail here on two counts of breaking and entering, and larceny.

On Monday, June 22, the Hiwassee Resort Village Recreation Center and Walter Dockery's Store, near Hi-wassee Dam, were broken into. A small amount of money, cigarettes, and miscellaneous items were taken both places. Several hundred dollars of damage through vandalism was done at the Recreation Center.

Frozen food from the Center's freezer was scattered over the floor of the building and grounds. Damage to machines and other equipment in the building, broken windows and doors, was estimated at $1500 to $2000.

The two men are also charged with larceny of a pickup truck which was parked near Voyles' store and cabins. The truck belonged to Lyons Construction Co. of Rogerville Tenn. About $1000 worth of tools were in the truck at the time it was taken. Both truck and tools were recovered Tuesday, June 23, near Blue Ridge, Ga.

It was reported that the two men drove the pickup truck to Chattanooga, Tenn., then to Atlanta, and back to Blue Ridge, where it was abandoned. Then the men hitchhiked back to their homes.

Warrants were issued by Lloyd Ramsey and bonds have been set at $6,000 each.

SBI Agent M. G. Crawford, Sheriff Claude Anderson, and Deputy Robert Hartness are the investigating officers. Investigation is not yet complete.
