

"The Positive Discipline Consortium epitomizes the Institute at its best in its public service role. It acts as a true advocate providing a way to make something positive happen."

Louis Hanemann,
Vice President
Human Resources
NC Natural Gas Corporation

"By continuing its work of careful research and data collecting, the Institute can help find the remedies we need to solve the problems experienced by children and families."

John Turner, Dean Emeritus
School of Social Work
UNC-Chapel Hill

"The work of the Institute doesn't just help children, it helps me. Just as all our children have an assigned mentor, the Institute is my mentor."

Gloria Vaca, Executive Director
Durham Companions

"Having the Institute as point man has proven to be crucial to focusing the state's attention on child care."

Marjorie Warwick Tate,
President
Child Care Resources, Inc.
