

Photography by Gay Bumgarner

With your help we can add a few new wings to our museum.

A transformation is under way at the Museum of Life and Science: our 70-acre expansion program, BioQuest, includes plans to build the nation's first interactive Butterfly House and Insectarium. Scheduled to open in October 1998, visitors will have an opportunity to observe a wide variety of native and tropical butterflies in a one-of-a-kind, hands-on environment. It also provides a unique opportunity for you to lend a hand and help enable this dream to take flight.

To make a donation or for more information, please call 220-5429, ext. 320. Glaxo Wellcome Inc. is among the supporters of the North Carolina Museum of Life and Science in Durham. We urge you to discover this worthy cause along with us.