Jetronic

Oil

Space Burning

HEATER

The Jetronic is not just another space heater. New, scientific burning and heat transfer principles revolutionize vaporizing oil heating.

The inner cone and vertical tubes provide two-thirds more heating surface for the same size burner than any other heaters without this exclusive feature. This means that every possible heat unit is extracted from the hot gases before they enter the chimney.

Room air rises through the smaller vertical tube, is heated and compressed, then released through the cone into the larger tube with a velocity equal to that produced by a fan. Thus, without the expense of wiring and operating an electric fan, the Jetronic Space Heater forces heat rapidly and evenly to all parts of the space being heated.
