

Supply Extension Homemakers Plan February Craft Workshop

Supply extension homemakers will hold a members craft workshop Feb. 6 at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Gunnerson.

Club members are asked to bring a sandwich, with drinks and dessert furnished by Mrs. Gunnerson, cultural arts chairperson.

Several members are also expected to attend an areawide creative skills workshop in Whiteville Feb. 27-28.

In January, the Supply Extension Homemakers Club met a week early, on Jan. 8, to discuss invitations to the countywide achievement night program Jan. 25. They met at the Brunswick Electric Membership Corp. in Shallotte, with nine members and guests Deraline McAllister, Rosemary Whaley, Margaret Holmes and Virginia Reese attending. Mrs. McAllister and Mrs. Whaley joined the club, bringing total membership to 16.

Pat Nash presented the program on Mental Health and Our Times. Services offered to individuals in the Brunswick County area by the Southeastern Mental Health Clinic were discussed, with emphasis placed on extension members sharing information given them.

Mrs. Ruth Dunn read the collect for club women as interpreted by Fanny Helen Kenyon, M.D., with members reciting familiar lines in unison.

Retiring secretary Aileen Miles recorded monetary gifts to Girls Haven, Retarded Children's Chapels, Coastline Volunteer Rescue Squad, United Cerebral Palsy and Brunswick County's 4-H program before turning records over to new club secretary Ethelyn Hawes. Members gave Mrs. Miles a gift of appreciation for her two years' service in the position.

Members prepared Valentine tray favors for the Brunswick Hospital and they were asked to bring toiletry items to the Feb. 19 meeting to be given as game prizes for residents of the local nursing home.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Gladys Geller in Briarwood Estates.

Elks Auxiliary Members Feted Brunswick Village Residents

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Calabash Elks Lodge No. 2879 held a Christmas party for residents of Brunswick Village Rest Home in Shallotte on Dec. 18.

Five auxiliary members attended, with Bill George assisting in the role of Santa Claus. They presented lap robes and shawls to all residents during the two-hour event.

Doris Blain was chairperson for the event, with Donna Stoughton coordinating the event between the auxiliary and the nursing home.

The club had a special thanks for June Mollanauer, who made 16 lap robes; to Bonnie Athan, who made miniature baskets for all; and to Diane Carlson, who gave a token gift to everyone.

Club Learns To Cook With Herbs

A program on cooking with herbs highlighted the Jan. 10 meeting of the Sunset Sands Garden Club.

Members met at the home of Betty Melvin, with Doris Minor as co-hostess.

Brunswick County Home Economics Extension Agent Mary Russ prepared several dishes prepared with herbs for the club to sample including finger foods, breads, rolls and international coffees, reported Patricia Brosius, publicity chairman. A horticulture report from Francis Gravitt was read. Ann Masline, in her report on birds, reminded club members that now is the time to keep bird feeders full. While away from home, she suggested arranging for a neighbor to care for the feeders.

Several members brought examples of different crafts as ideas for the Ways & Means Committee. Craft workshops are to start soon.
