

Scout Cookie Sale Starts Friday

It's an opportunity that comes only once a year—the annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale.

This year's sale starts Jan. 18 and runs through Feb. 3.

Cookies will be delivered the first week in March, during Girl Scout Week, said Connie Schutte, public relations coordinator for the Brunswick County Girl Scout Council.

Offered this year are seven varieties of cookies at $1.75 a box, the same price as last year. These include Samoas, Chocolate Chunks, Thin Mints, Do-si-dos, Tagalongs, Trefoils and a new assorted pack called Juliettes, which includes both a lemon-iced shortbread and a pecan praline-iced shortbread.

All Girl Scout cookies are made with 100 percent vegetable shortening, no preservatives and fine quality ingredients such as natural chocolate, real peppermint, lemon and coconut.

The theme of this year's sale is "the cookies that make dreams come true."

Ms. Schutte says the theme is no exaggeration, because now, more than ever, Girl Scout activities depend on the proceeds from this annual sale.

These proceeds, plus allocations from the United Way, make possible learning and growing opportunities that range from ballet and backpacking to camping and career days.

Mrs. Schutte, who also serves as a troop leader and county troop organizer, said the number of local girls who participate in scouting is growing each year. The county presently has 19 troops. The 10 Brownie troops serve girls in grades one through three; the seven Junior troops, girls in grades four through six; and the two Cadette troops, girls in grades seven through nine. Safety programming has been a major activity for local troops recently and plans for a day camp have begun. Also, Fort Fisher will be the site of an upcoming regional event that will include Brunswick and three other counties.

"We're really spreading out," she said. "We have troops at Ocean Isle Beach and are trying to start a Brownie troop at Sunset Beach."

Persons interested in finding out about troop opportunities should call Mrs. Schutte at 842-6786. Those who want to place orders for cookies can call either her or the 1985 cookie sales chairman, Martha Bridges of Winabow, at 253-5386.

BRUNSWICK COUNTY GIRL SCOUTS recently shared plans for their 1985 cookie sales with Sheriff John Carr Davis, center rear. With him are, on the back from the

Locals Among Hundreds At Tribute To Dr. King

BY MATTIE HEWETT

The General Baptist State Convention's annual banquet in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was held Friday in Raleigh.

Rev. and Mrs. John Baker of Bolivia, Mrs. Lizzie Mae Mitchell of Supply, Rev. and Mrs. Freeman Gause of Thomasboro, and Deacon J. Hobson Bryant and Mrs. Annie R. Bryant of Cedar Grove were among hundreds enjoying the banquet.

Dr. E. B. Turner, president; Dr. C. C. Craig, executive secretary; and Dr. John D. Fuller, 4th vice president, presided. The theme was "The Spirit of Martin Luther King Jr. in Civic Affairs and Family Life." "Lift Every Voice and Sing" was led by Mrs. Alice G. Cade.

Dr. Joseph L. Roberts Jr., pastor of Ebenezer Baptist Church in Atlanta, Georgia, was the guest speaker. He brought a dynamic message to hundreds of dedicated listeners.

Rewarding Experience

Months of anticipation and preparation were quite rewarding for the Ocean View Youth who were in charge of a special feature during the 32nd annual mid-year session of the Woman's Baptist Home and Foreign Missionary Convention of North Carolina, held Saturday at the Raleigh Civic Center Complex.

The session featured the seniors, the young adults and the youth, bringing together thousands of people from around the state of all ages and departments, all working toward the same goal. The spiritual budget for 1985 is 2,000 souls to Christ. The financial budget is $440,343.25.

The early arrival in Raleigh on a packed Trailways bus carrying youth, parents, supervisors and other Ocean View members, started the day off right. Everyone seemed happy, and as the session progressed so did the praise and thankfulness for another annual session.

A skit, "Trying to Get to Heaven," presented by the youth, was the highlight of the session. It was successful and spiritual.

Many supervisors and members of other churches were anxious to purchase this skit for more enlightenment in winning souls to Christ.

The skit was also responsible for Youth Supervisor Mrs. Arvella Marlow being asked to serve on the state level advisory board.

Mrs. Marlow thanked Ocean View and all who have cooperated with her in helping to make life easier in training and shaping the Little Dynamics and youth.

Cedar Grove Missionary Baptist Church received the Circle of Lydia award that honors its praying, giving and serving. This is a second award for us, given by the Woman's Baptist Home and Foreign Missionary Convention of North Carolina. The latest one was accepted by Mrs. Annie R. Bryant, circle president.

Women Who Make Money With Crafts Recognized

Brunswick County women who use their talents in arts and crafts to produce income will be featured as part of a workshop Saturday on financial planning for women.

Displays of their work will be mounted at public assembly building during the workshop, sponsored by the Brunswick County Council on the Status of Women. The event begins at 9:30 a.m. and the $3.50 price includes a luncheon.

The main speaker will be Charlotte Shelton, an account executive with Merrill Lynch of Savannah, Ga.

Some of the women whose handiwork will be featured work full-time, others part-time or seasonally. Some supplement an income, others are independent.

"The Council on the Status of Women is taking this opportunity to recognize women in Brunswick County who are using their talents and resources to help themselves financially," said Tanya Long, spokeswoman.

The session continues the council's efforts to present workshops on timely topics and issues pertinent to women. Their purpose is to inform, educate and otherwise improve the status of women in the county, but attendance is not limited to women. All interested persons are invited to attend, said Ms. Long.

More information is available by calling a council representative at 253-5964 or 253-5615. Reservations or advance tickets are not necessary but are helpful in planning for the event.
