HOLDEN BEACH town officials are being sued for more than $40,000 to pay for this beach cottage that was destroyed by fire last February. The owner, Edith Chance of Fayetteville, claims a turned off fire hydrant hindered Tri-Beach Volunteer firemen from saving the home.

Dry Hydrant Leads To Holden Beach Lawsuit

BY TERRY POPE

A Fayetteville woman whose Holden Beach cottage was destroyed by fire last year is suing the town for more than $44,000, claiming fire fighters could not battle the blaze because an adjacent fire hydrant was turned off.

In the lawsuit filed Feb. 11 in Brunswick County Superior Court, Edith Chance charges the town with negligence in turning off the "water supply to the hydrant below ground level so that fire fighters could not obtain water."

When Tri-Beach Volunteer firemen arrived at the cottage at 707 Ocean Boulevard West on Feb. 28, 1984, the fire was "contained in a small area of the dwelling." However, the hydrant supplying water to the area of the plaintiff's dwelling was turned off, the suit states.

The blaze broke out around 1 p.m. while firemen from both Tri-Beach and Supply Volunteer Fire Departments responded to the call. Flames were fueled by wind gusts estimated at 25 to 30 mph, according to the report of the fire printed in March 1, 1984 issue of The Brunswick Beacon.

One home adjacent to Ms. Chance's cottage also received scorched paint on one side, but no damage inside the home. The fire was extinguished in about two hours.

Before the fire, the value of Ms. Chance's home was estimated at around $40,000, according to the suit filed by Wilmington attorney Lonnie B. Williams. After the fire, the home had "no value."

Ms. Chance also incurred additional expenses of $4,164 as a result of clearing the debris and surveying damages to the home. She is seeking a total of $44,146 from the town, plus interest and court costs.

Williams' office has also sent Holden Beach officials a list of interrogatories that must be answered by the town within 45 days.

The questions ask the town if the hydrant was turned off and to state the reason why it was not in operation at the time of the fire. It also asks if an investigation or inquiry was made to determine why the hydrant was not turned on so that water could be obtained.

Williams is also asking the town to supply any reports or written records made regarding the fact that the hydrant was turned off. A list of the names and titles of town employees "whose duty and responsibility it was to keep operational the hydrant" has also been requested by the attorney's office.

If you are counting on Social Security for a comfortable retirement . . . .
COUNT AGAIN!

The dollars just don't add up! Inflation, uncertain interest rates, unemployment, government deficits, economic uncertainties . . . "Can you afford to count on Social Security?" Most of us thought that Social Security would pretty much take care of our retirement needs . . . but now? Unfortunately, the blunt truth is that government payments are not providing enough money for most retirees to live beyond the poverty level.

YOUR FARM BUREAU CAN HELP! Individual Retirement Annuity

The IRA is a tax-qualified retirement plan formulated by Congress to enable people to set aside money for retirement because Congress realizes Social Security won't be enough. To encourage IRA participation, the law allows the tax-deductibility of contributions to an IRA and tax-deferral of the cash buildup in an IRA.

Only a life insurance company can guarantee a specific amount of monthly income to be payable during your retirement years for the remainder of your lifetime - guaranteed!
