

Shooting Suspect Bound Over To Superior Court

Brunswick County District Court Judge Lee J. Greer Jr. ruled probable cause existed last week for a felony assault charge against a 20-year-old Hope Mills woman charged with shooting a Whiteville woman in the head.

Teena Elaine Ferguson was charged Dec. 26 with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious bodily injury after allegedly shooting Renee Tanner, 18, outside a Seatrail residence with a .22 caliber pistol.

Judge Greer found probable cause for a charge of assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury last Monday, which bound the case over to Superior Court. The Brunswick County Grand Jury will now decide whether or not to hand down an indictment against the defendant.

According to Sheriff John Carr Davis, Miss Ferguson turned herself in at the Brunswick County Sheriff's Department after the shooting. The shooting occurred around 11 p.m. outside the Seatrail home between Ocean Isle and Sunset Beach.

Witnesses to the shooting reported the two women were arguing about a man when the shooting occurred, Davis said.

Miss Tanner was listed in critical condition at New Hanover Memorial Hospital following the shooting, but has since been released from the hospital.

Judge Greer also heard the following cases in Brunswick County District Criminal Court for the period Feb. 18-20:
