

Scouts Fight Litter

Club Learns Scaled-Down Cooking

A slide program on "Cooking For One or Two" was presented by Brunswick County Home Extension Agent Mary Russ at the March 25 meeting of the Guys and Dolls Extension Homemakers Couples Club.

Attending the meeting at the extension office were Jean and Ed Robinson, Alice and Russ Perkis, Edith and Jack Odgen, Aida and John Lewis, Virginia and Bud Godlove, Thelma and Bill Dun and Mrs. Russ. They reported contributing 276 hours of volunteer work with Doshier Memorial Hospital Volunteers, a sea grass stools workshop, extension advisory council meeting, arts and crafts show, area workshop at Whiteville and the Boiling Spring Lakes Fair.

Member Bill Dunn reported on a 4-H workshop he attended at an Agricultural Advisory Council Leadership meeting held at N.C. State University Feb. 26-27.

Dunn also will represent the club at an April 18 meeting to finalize county participation in the Adopt-A-Student program with N.C. State University. Mrs. Russ announced plans for a sewing techniques workshop in April and a chair caning workshop in May, both at the extension office.

According to Treasurer Jean Robinson, the club has made its annual donation to the Brunswick County 4-H Development Fund.

Members also enjoyed refreshments provided by the Duns. Their next meeting is Monday, April 22, at the extension office.

All couples residing in the county are eligible to join the Guys and Dolls Club. More information is available from the extension office at 253-4425.

Sea Trail Members Clean Roadsides

Sea Trail Community Association members were to pick up trash Wednesday and Thursday as part of an effort "to put our best foot forward when the Easter crowds arrived," indicated club spokesman Ann Masline.

Area residents were invited to help pick up trash in the boat ramp area at 1 p.m. Wednesday and on N.C. 179 from Seaside to Shoreline drive today (Thursday) at 1 p.m. Litter bags were provided by the state.

All association members were urged also to clean up their own blocks. Planning for the communitywide clean-up was completed at the association's March 28 covered dish dinner at the Sunset Beach Fire House.

Members also heard a program on the history and development of the Seaside area.

Their guest speaker was Gwen

Causey, a teacher at Shallotte Middle School and regent of the William Gause Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Following a brief early history, she described the schools, churches, stores, socials and agricultural pursuits of the area over the past 70 years. She emphasized the stories that local cemeteries tell. Her guests were Gertie Mooney and Bobbie Sellers, longtime residents of the Seaside area.

Welcomed as new members were Mary and Peggy Sobel. Other guests were Allene Apple, Peggy Sobel's mother; Roger and Molly Whitmer, Jill Fuller's parents; and Francis and Betty Robinson, Mildred Bernard's brother and sister-in-law who were celebrating their 21st wedding anniversary.

Bill Fayer, editorial page columnist for The Brunswick Beacon and an employee of Comprehensive Home Health Care, will speak on two topics, birds and home health care, at the organization's next meeting, April 25 at 6:30 p.m. at the fire house.
