Elks Install Officers, Seek New Home

New officers were installed Sunday by the Calabash Lodge No. 2679 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Visiting dignitaries from other lodges helped in the installation of Exalted Ruler Leon Noorigian, who succeeded Dick McLean in the lodge's highest position of leadership.

Also installed during an hour-long outdoor ceremony at the Elks' clubhouse in Calabash were Granden (Bud) Pearce, Esteemed Leading Knight; Walter Krebs, Loyal Knight; Dick Barretto, secretary; Milt Stoughton, treasurer; and Dick McLean, Bill Durr, Ray Nordbruch, Art Zornow and Darwin Whipkey, trustees; Joseph Wago, Tiler; Allen Storm, Inner Guard; and Stewart Wilson, Esquire.

McLean, the outgoing Exalted Ruler, was presented antlers of protection from the membership and a plaque from the lodge officers.

The Calabash Lodge was instituted in February 1984 and has since become one of the most active lodges in the state.

Its youth program includes a Hoop Shoot for youngsters from North Myrtle Beach, S.C., and southern Brunswick County and sponsorship of boys to attend summer camp. The club's veterans committee makes numerous visits to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Fayetteville and donated a color television set, clothes and stamps. The lodge also participates in the Grand Lodge National Foundation Program and in assorted community projects. One was donating a flag pole to the Calabash Volunteer Rescue Squad.

Lodge members presently meet in temporary facilities, but are searching for a more permanent location.

All members are to meet 2 p.m. Saturday at the old Dixie Restaurant in Calabash to inspect the facility as a possible future home for the lodge.

The ladies auxiliary to the lodge also is active. Last December members made and presented lap robes to residents of the Holden Beach Senior Citizens Club 7 p.m.

The Order of Elks is a fraternal social organization involved in charitable and patriotic service.
