Senior Gets St. Andrews Scholarship

West Brunswick High School senior Michael Wray King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wray King of Shoreline Drive, Sunset Beach, has been awarded an honors scholarship to St. Andrews Presbyterian College in Laurinburg.

The scholarship is renewable each year for four years and is awarded on the basis of merit only, regardless of financial need. Recipients are selected through a competitive process, with finalists chosen on the basis of academic achievement, SAT scores, extracurricular involvement and an interview.

May Elected

Scot May, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen W. May of Lakeshore Drive, Sunset Beach, has been elected to the Student Judicial Board at North Carolina State University in Raleigh. The board hears cases involving student violations of university regulations.

May is a political science major.

Caroon Named

C.B. (Cash) Caroon of Southport has been named vice-chairman of the state Marine Fisheries Commission. He was appointed to the commission in February along with Hall Walters of the Town Creek area.

Form New Firm

Edmund A. (Buddy) Liles, most recently with the General Counsel's Office of the Farmers Home Administration in Washington, D.C., has joined with Southport attorney Grover A. Gore to form the law firm of Gore & Liles. Their office is in Southport.

Liles is a native of Anson County, where Gore previously served as a county farm agent. He is a graduate of Davidson College and the Wake Forest University School of Law.

Employee Of Month

Shirley Evans of Bolivia has been named employee of the month by Comprehensive Home Health Care. She is a home care assistant working out of the Supply office of the agency, with which she has worked since 1981.

Clarification

The Dale Arthur Hewett, 33, of Shallotte Point, who was recently charged with possessing and selling cocaine as part of the "Operation Brass" undercover drug investigation is not the Frankie Dale Hewett, 36, of Grissetown, a N.C. Marine Fisheries enforcement officer.

It's Not Maui, But...

Sunset Beach isn't in Hawaii, but that didn't stop Craig Davis of Charlotte from creating a sandy volcano. Davis was among a group of West Mecklenburg High School students down for the Easter holiday.

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

CONTACTS AND CATARACTS

A cataract is a clouding of the lens of the eye. When vision is seriously impaired, the lens is removed by surgery. Glasses or contact lenses are used to compensate for this. Otherwise you would suffer from extreme farsightedness.

Before the advent of contact lenses, the only alternative was to wear thick-lenses glasses to correct vision after cataract surgery. These magnified the eyes so much that it made people who wore them uncomfortable about their appearance.

There was also a problem with the glasses themselves. Because of the space between the lens and the eyes, they tended to distort the actual size of things seen. This was especially true in cases where only one eye had been affected by cataract.

Now we have contact lenses that fit directly over the eyes, improving both vision and appearance. Now there is a choice: you can still wear glasses if that's your preference; or you can choose contacts and enjoy their advantages.

Judge Takes Office Friday

Whiteville attorney D. Jack Hooks Jr. will take the oath of office Friday morning during a swearing in ceremony in Whiteville before Superior Court Judge Giles R. Clark of Elizabethtown.

Hooks, 31, was appointed to the seat by Gov. Jim Martin last Thursday. He will replace Judge Wayne Long of Shallotte, who resigned in February after being charged with driving while impaired in Durham. Long was scheduled to appear in court in Durham County Thursday morning.

Gov. Martin selected Hooks from three nominees chosen by the 13th District Bar Association. Also nominated at the association's March 7 meeting were Whiteville attorney Michael Willis and Assistant District Attorney Tom Aldridge. Following the state statute, the bar nominated three lawyers from the same political party as the judge who left the bench. Long was a Democrat serving his first term as judge, having defeated Southport attorney Elva Jess in the May primary race.

The Columbus County Republican Party's 14-member executive committee gave Hooks a written endorsement that was given to Gov. Martin last month.

Hooks attended UNC-Wilmington and received his bachelors degree from the University of South Carolina. He earned his law degree at Campbell University School of Law and has practiced in Whiteville since 1980.

With the appointment, three of the four District Court Judges that represent the 13th District, consisting of Brunswick, Columbus and Bladen counties, are from Columbus County.

Joining Hooks from Columbus County are Chief District Court Judge William C. Gore Jr. and Jerry A. Jolly of Tabor City. A fourth judge, Lee J. Greer Jr. is from Long Beach.

Hooks will earn the standard annual salary of $44,832 when he takes office Friday. Judge Gore wanted to seat Hooks before Monday morning's session of District Criminal Court in Brunswick County began.
