

Shallotte Students Perform 'Snow White And Seven Dwarfs'

FIRST COUSINS Kelly Stanaland, left, and Wayne Stanaland, portrayed Snow White and the Prince during rehearsals last week.

"Mirror, mirror on the wall, who's the fairest of them all?" Snow White, of course, and the Queen does not like it. In fact, she threatened to smash student Dee Dee Gause into a thousand pieces just out of jealousy.

It all happened Tuesday in the Shallotte Middle School cafeteria as students gathered for one of three performances of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." The school's annual play presentation included a Tuesday night showing for the public and a Wednesday morning showing for students from other schools.

Dee Dee Gause portrayed the mirror in the Queen's castle, a mirror that sees past, present and future, while student Tanya Hewett was dressed in the Queen's long, green gown. They weren't actually enemies, but are classmates instead.

It was Snow White's 16th birthday and trouble was brewing in the forest. Seven dwarfs came to Snow White's aid after she was cast under a spell by the Queen. It's a story we have all heard before, but not quite like the way students at Shallotte Middle told the tale last week.

Kelly Stanaland played Snow White while Wayne Stanaland played the Prince. Ashley Marshall portrayed the Princess, Kristen Boyles the old Peasant Woman and Christy Bellamy the Witch.

Seven students from the Shallotte Middle School chorus were recruited to fill the dwarfs positions. They were, Chris Bland, Doc; Richard Lancaster, Grumpy; Charles Moore, Sneezy; Chris Phelps, Dopey; Shane Holden, Happy; Chris Tyndall, Bashful, and LeQuinn Jenerette, Sleepy.

Play co-coordinators Kay Coleman and Wallace Dunn worked with the students for weeks to prepare for the play. As expected, it had a storybook ending.

Animal Welfare League Organizing

A meeting to organize a Brunswick County Animal Welfare League will be held Tuesday, May 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the public assembly building of the Brunswick County Government Center.

The purpose of this meeting, said spokesman Teddie Neal of Bolivia, is to elect officers and a bylaws committee and to discuss the concerns and goals of the group.

"We who are starting the organization are concerned with expanding facilities at the pound in order to extend the length of time animals may be kept, giving more opportunity to find homes for them," said Ms. Neal. "Also, to prevent cruelty to animals, to get a reduction in the cost of spaying and neutering of animals, to help get information to more prospective owners and, as friends of the pound, to help get adequate financing from the county."

Sign-up sheets for individuals concerned about animal welfare have been available at local drug stores and veterinary offices; others interested in organizing a league also are invited to the meeting, Ms. Neal said.
