Shores Group Tackles Litter

As part of a countywide anti-litter campaign, a group of Carolina Shores residents recently decided to launch their own neighborhood clean-up campaign.

Thirty residents, equipped with large plastic bags, gloves and pointed sticks, picked up litter on both sides of Country Club Drive from U.S. 17 to N.C. 179. The drive bisects the community.

Participant Grayce Farley said the litter consisted mainly of drink containers—cans and bottles—, food and cigarette wrappings.

"If residents and visitors would stop and think before discarding their litter on the highways," she added, "they would realize how much improvement there would be to the area."

"Let's all pitch in to keep our county clean and beautiful," she added.

Cemetery Cleaning Day Is Planned

A work day is planned Saturday, June 29, beginning at 7:30 a.m. at the Griffin Cemetery on S.R. 1332 in Ash.

Spokesman Doris Gore asked that those with relatives or friends buried in the cemetery join in the clean-up, bringing lawnmowers and rakes.

BRUNSWICK FUNERAL SERVICE

When a family chooses to come to Brunswick Funeral Service, we want them to use the funeral home just as they would their own homes to greet friends and relatives.

At the visitation, family and friends cope with many mixed emotions. They find a reality in the viewing experience which supports them in their grief. This is a time to share memories and the human warmth and mutual love all friends appreciate in tragedy.

It is our desire to provide a comfortable and home-like atmosphere for this special time.
