A Time To Say Good-bye

BY DICKY POWELL
BRUNSWICK FUNERAL SERVICE

The funeral is for the living; it causes us to come together in a way we otherwise never do, to lean on one another and to think of the one who has caused us to come together.

The funeral is an occasion for remembrance and for closure. It is a time when we bring support and warmth to our fellow human beings and help provide that transitional bridge to new circumstances brought about by the death of an intimate person. It is a time to pay tribute to the dead person and emphasize both his worth and the fact that he is worth the pain and stress of grieving.

The funeral is a special time to say good-bye and feel close to others.
