Brunswick Tech Begins Fall Quarter Continuing Ed Courses

It will be back to school for approximately 2,500 Brunswick County adults next week when fall quarter continuing education courses begin at Brunswick Technical College.

Continuing education courses are for adults 18 years of age or older who choose to attend classes on a less structured basis than that which is required for curriculum study. They are designed for self-improvement, up-grading for increased job demands and a variety of general interest offerings.

The history of Brunswick County, its communities and towns, will be the focus of a local history and genealogy course. County folklore and music will add dimension to local history as students research families and collect data on ancestry. The class will meet from 7-9:30 p.m. each Monday at West Brunswick High School beginning Sept. 16. A registration fee of $10 will be charged.

Designed especially for day care providers and pre-school teachers and directors, the course, Creative Activities for Young Children, is approved for state certification. It will involve a study in the techniques of formulating a creative activities program in daycare, pre-school, and nursery centers. The class will meet from 7-10 p.m. each Tuesday in Bolivia. The course will begin Oct. 8. A registration fee of $10 will be charged.

For those who would like to add a touch of glass to their lives, a stained glass class for beginners will be available. Basic design, use of stained glass tools, and glass cutting will be discussed. The class will meet at West Brunswick High School on Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30-9:30 p.m., beginning Sept. 10. The registration fee will be $10.

A beginning course in bricklaying will be taught near Boones Neck from 6-10 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday beginning Sept. 3. The course will cover the mixing of mortar, the use of a trowel and level, and building cavity walls and corners. A registration fee of $10 will be charged.

More information about Continuing Education Courses is available from the Continuing Education Department at 754-6900.

Weekend Passengers Need Boating Skills Too

Not all the people who enjoy boating are "weekend skippers." Many of them are "weekend passengers"—just along for the ride while someone else runs the boat.

But what if the skipper falls overboard or gets injured or sick while you're "just along for the ride?" Suddenly you are in command and need to know the basics of how to run the boat, how to use emergency equipment, what to do in case of trouble.

John F. (Jack) Ziefel of the Shallotte unit of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary says that the time to learn is before you need to take command.

Before you start, locate the personal flotation devices (PFDs), fire extinguisher, signaling devices and other safety gear. Practice throwing PFDs a line, anchoring the boat and boarding from the water.

Ask questions about the boat and how it operates. Most owners will talk your ears off if you give them

Supply VFD Wants Good Used Household Items

If you haven't already cleaned out the attic or storage shed, now's the time to do it.

The Supply Volunteer Fire Department will hold a flea market type yard sale Saturday, Sept. 7, in the former Blanton's Supermarket building. The building is located next door to Blanton's Tax Service.

Any donation of used items that have resale value will be accepted, said a departmental spokesman. These might include clothing, glassware, dishes, toasters, coffee makers, fry pans and bicycles.

"This is the time to get rid of those items that are in your way and at the same time help a worthy cause," said a spokesman.

For more information, or to have someone with the fire department meet you at the sale site, call 754-4437 or 754-4454.

Art Classes Begin

Classes in pottery, watercolors and drawing will be offered through Brunswick Technical College beginning next month at Franklin Square Gallery and the adjoining pottery studio in Southport.

Donna Bean will instruct three pottery classes, Tuesdays from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., beginning Sept. 3; Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., beginning Sept. 4; and Tuesday and Thursday, 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., beginning Sept. 3.

Jean Jones will instruct in watercolors in two Wednesday sessions, 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., beginning Sept. 4.

Rusty Hughes will teach drawing on Mondays from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. beginning Sept. 9.

Registration is $10 for the pottery classes, $19 for watercolors and $19 for drawing, all payable at the first class meeting. Senior citizens ages 65 and older are exempted.

The gallery is located at the intersection of West and Howe streets.

Sunset Taxpayers To Meet

A proposed high rise bridge, land use planning and public parking will be on the agenda when the Sunset Beach Taxpayers Association holds its Labor Day membership meeting.

The meeting will be held Saturday, Aug. 31, at 10 a.m. at the Sunset Beach Volunteer Fire Department building.

Members will also discuss a membership drive, nominations for directors and future directions of the association, indicated a news release.

Demo Women Meet At Ocean Isle

The Brunswick County Democratic Women's Organization will meet Tuesday, Sept. 3, at 7:30 p.m. at Island Plaza on N.C. 179 near Ocean Isle Beach.

Hosted by members from District 1, the meeting will be in the East Coast Vinyl Siding building.

A guest speaker is planned, said Jojuan Somersett, and refreshments will be served.

During the business session, members will discuss a membership drive, fundraising projects and plans to attend the state convention at Southern Pines Sept. 19-21.

All interested women are urged to attend, she said.

Democratic Women's meetings are being rotated from one district to another to encourage involvement of women throughout the county, said Mrs. Somersett. Membership is open to all county women who are registered to vote as Democrats.

More information is available by calling Grace Peoples, 842-8351, or Jojuan Somersett, 579-6398.
