

Langley-Richardson Vows Are Exchanged

Florida Lynn Langley and Captain George Earl Richardson III were married in a military ceremony Saturday, Sept. 21, at 4 p.m. in the Summerall Chapel of the Citadel in Charleston, S.C.

Chaplain Garthe officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Langley of Mt. Pleasant, S.C., who are summer residents of Holden Beach. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolie Robinson of Holden Beach. She is a graduate of East Carolina University.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Richardson Jr. of Sylvania, Ohio. He is a graduate of Bowling Green State University and is a pilot instructor in the U.S. Air Force.

The bride was escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents.

She wore a silk taffeta gown with an extended chapel train covered with Alencon lace. The bodice and sleeves were beaded. She also wore a mantilla veil with a half-cap covered with Alencon lace applique extending the length of the train.

Matron of honor was Robin Davis, the bride's sister. Maid of honor was Linda Smith. Both wore Charleston-styled gowns of orchid satin and carried bouquets of pink long-stemmed roses.

Bridesmaids were Susan Richardson, sister of the groom; Laura Phelps; Monica Puckharbor; and Cathy Christenberry. All wore gowns of violet satin and carried bouquets of pink long-stemmed roses.

Will Riggs was ring bearer, and his sister Rebecca Riggs was flower girl. Rebecca dressed in orchid satin and carried a basket of daisies and pink carnation buds.

The groom's father was best man.

David Richardson, the groom's brother, was head usher. John P. Hall, Keith Meadows, Oke Pearson and Tim Winters, fellow pilots of the groom, ushered.

The mother of the bride wore a taffeta jacket with a large ruffled collar and gathered ruffles down the front over a teal blue taffeta gown with a sequined fixed bodice. She wore a wrist corsage of Cymbidians orchids.

The mother of the groom wore a dove grey crepe gown with a pleated bodice, bell-shaped sleeves and a white organza cowl neck. She wore a corsage of gardenias.

Wedding music was provided by organist David Redd and soloist Janie Leigans.

A bridal luncheon was held by the bride's mother on Sept. 20. The bride presented gifts to her attendants and the mothers.

An after-rehearsal dinner cocktail party and dinner was given by the groom's parents.

On Sept. 12 the bridesmaids hosted a shower for the bride.

A reception and dance were held following the wedding at the Snee Farm Country Club, with music by the Tim Abez Orchestra.

After a honeymoon cruise through the Caribbean, the couple will reside in Wichita Falls, Texas.

Homemakers Club Makes Donations

At their Sept. 17 meeting, the Supply Extension Homemakers Club voted to send $10 to Girls' Haven.

Members also donated canned goods and money for the Home Mission Center in Bolivia.

They sent 1,800 canceled postage stamps to Stamps For Food Inc., which will in turn make contributions to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, Boys' Clubs, and a mission for Chinese orphans.

It was announced the year's "pennies for friendship" project netted $14.85.

Club members who are presently serving on program of work committees will continue in their posts during the upcoming year. Susie Stevens joined the Cultural Arts Committee, and Clara Schuester, club president, became chairperson of the International Program of Work committee.

On Oct. 1 the club will meet for a craft workshop at the home of Evelyn Gunnerson. Plans for a trip to the Wilmington historic district will be completed at that time.

Club secretary Rosemary Whaley called the roll by asking members to recall their first day of school, since September is traditionally thought of as "back to school" month. Millie Evans gave a short report on how newspapers, television and magazines deal with health problems. Pat Nash gave a brief explanation of lithotripsy, a kidney stone procedure.

Virginia Robertson and Extension Agent Mary Russ were guests at the meeting.

Gladys Geller, Evelyn Gunnerson, Clara Thomer and Liz Busby also attended the meeting.

County Artists Compete In Annual Show

Works by Brunswick County artists will be featured in the second annual Brunswick County Judged Art Show, which opens Tuesday, Oct. 1, at Franklin Square Gallery in Southport.

The show continues through Nov. 2, with hours from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., said spokesman Albert Christman. It is sponsored by the Associated Artists of Southport and the Brunswick County Arts Council.

An awards reception will be held at the Gallery on Oct. 1, from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m., with awards presented at 6:30 p.m.

Entries for the show will be received at the gallery through Saturday afternoon of this week. Original works of art not previously exhibited at Franklin Square Gallery are eligible in categories of paintings, drawings, graphics, sculpture, pottery and fiber arts.

Each artist is limited to one entry, with a fee of $5. Entries must be framed and ready to hang or ready for pedestal display.

Wedding Plans Told

Kimberley Anne Rice and Jerry Dale Hull, both of Winnabow, plan to be married Dec. 7 at 6 p.m. at St. Timothy's Episcopal Church in Raleigh.

Miss Rice is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Wally Ausley of Holden Beach. Hull is the son of Deloris Hull and Jerry V. Hull, both of Wilmington.

Joyner's Baby Is A Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Joyner of Route 1, Bolivia, have announced the birth of a baby girl, Wyshonique Arkel Joyner.

She was born at 10:58 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 18, in New Hanover Memorial Hospital, Wilmington. She weighed seven pounds, 11½ ounces and was 20 inches long.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Joyner of Southport. Maternal grandparents are Alberta Parker of Southport and McCluey Hewett of Wilmington.

Charity Yard Sale Is Oct. 4

The Holden Beach Ladies Club will hold its annual yard sale at the National Guard Armory in Shallotte on Friday, Oct. 4, from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Proceeds will go to needy families.

Calabash AARP To Dine And Bid

Calabash Chapter 3640 of the American Association of Retired Persons will meet at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 3, at the Calabash Fire Station.

The meeting will open with a covered dish supper, followed by an auction sale of items provided by chapter members.

Edward Simpson, stained glass artisan, will display some of his work as a prelude to a course in his specialty to be offered by Brunswick Technical College.

AARP is now observing its 25th anniversary. Calabash's 300 members represent one of North Carolina's 64 chapters and one of over 3,300 chapters with 19 million members nationwide.

As part of AARP's emphasis on community service, members of the Calabash Chapter have performed considerable volunteer work in their churches, with their community fire departments and rescue squads, at Brunswick Hospital and the Red Cross Bloodmobile.

Membership is open to all persons 50 and older who reside in Calabash or in nearby communities. Prospective members are invited to attend the Oct. 3 meeting.
