

Plants Add Year-Round Color

Beautification is a year-round effort for George and Enid Williams of 505 Shoreline Drive, Sea Trail. Recognition of their effort came last week, when the seven-year residents received the Sunset Sands Garden Club "Yard of the Month" award for September. Making the presentation was selection committee member Ann Boehmer, left.

Hospital Seeks New Volunteers

Brunswick Hospital volunteers will hold a luncheon business meeting Friday, Sept. 12, in the hospital dining room.

The luncheon is part of an effort to recruit new volunteers, according to Paula Stone, director of Human Resources and Volunteer Services. Each volunteer has asked five or six guests to join them.

"We need more volunteers to operate our gift shop," she said, "and many of our department heads are always asking if we can help them."

Those wishing to volunteer their services at the hospital should call Ms. Stone or any member of the volunteer organization, indicated Pete Barnette, hospital spokesman.

Get-Acquainted Luncheon Slated

A covered dish luncheon will help Calabash Extension Homemakers get better acquainted at their Sept. 19 meeting.

The meeting begins at 11:30 a.m. at the Calabash Fire Station.

Following lunch a brief business session is planned.

New members are welcome, said spokesman Mary Quinlan.

Tie Red Ribbon For POWs/MIAs

Members of the Calabash VFW Post are urging Brunswick County residents to display red ribbons as observance of POW-MIA Recognition Week, Sept. 14-19.

"We have over 2,400 missing Americans," said Auxiliary member Ise Hriez. "That's quite a number. Something needs to be done to determine their status."

She suggested tying red ribbons on mailboxes, car antennas, trees, "wherever," and writing to legislators urging action by the Federal government.

The recognition week is sponsored nationally by the National League of Families of American Prisoners Missing in Southeast Asia.

Correction

In the Sept. 4 edition of the Beacon, Robin Brown is incorrectly identified in a picture on page 7-A as Terry West.
