

Colonial Hospitality

Brunswick Town State Historic Site held its annual Christmas open house Sunday, when over 100 guests enjoyed colonial-styled decorations, music and food. Above, Shallotte visitors sample goodies made by colonial recipes. Olive Seitz, center, urges her husband,

Elected Chairman

Michael Kent Jones, chief executive officer of Jones Stores/J & C Wholesalers Co., headquartered in Tabor City and with one of its 30 stores in Shallotte, has been elected chairman of the board of the N.C. Retail Merchants Association (NCRMA).

"Our main goal in the NCRMA is to work with the state legislature and other businesses to create the very best environment for retailers that will help ensure all the advantages of the free enterprise system and will result in stronger and more profitable retail stores in North Carolina," said Jones.

Rep. E. David "Butch" Redwine serves on the board of directors from Shallotte.

Among those on NCRMA's executive committee is Charles Muready of Kerr Drug Stores, which operates a store in Shallotte.

Named 'Outstanding'

Three area men have been selected as Outstanding Young Men of America for 1986, with their biographies to appear in the publication of the same name.

They are Derrick Michael Bellamy of Route 7, Shallotte; Alan Bryant Hewett of Shallotte; and Harold Wayne Johnson of Route 3, Shallotte. The awards program recognizes men between the ages of 21 and 36 for their civic and professional contributions at the local, state and national level.

Watch Changes

Shallotte Flotilla 10-08 of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary installed new officers in a change of watch dinner held Dec. 10 at Sea Trail Golf Links.

Assuming office are Commander J. Price Thomas of Holden Beach; Vice-Commander George Goodrow of Sea Trail; and Assistant for Public Education Ed Phelps of Calabash Acres.

According to spokesman Jack Zeifel, the flotilla attained all goals set for the year by the U.S. Coast Guard.

Quilters Support Fire, Rescue Units

The Carolina Shores Quilters' Guild presented $30 checks each to the Calabash Volunteer Fire Department and Calabash Volunteer Rescue Squad at a Dec. 13 brunch.

Accepting the checks were Rescue Squad Captain Linda Anstadt and Fire Department President Bob Crocker and Chief Jerry Prime.

The money was the proceeds of a fundraising event sponsored by the quilters.

Also on Friday, Rose Allen of Carolina Shores was presented a quilt she won in a recent drawing.
