Home Show Draws Crowd; Exhibitors Pleased

BY SUSAN USHER

Products and services for the home drew a steady flow of visitors to the second Brunswick Living Home Show last weekend at the Shallotte N.C. National Guard Armory.

An estimated 3,800 persons visited the show, according to Nick Newton, spokesman for the South Brunswick Islands Home Builders Association which sponsored the event. That figure was derived from spot counts with allowances for peak and slow time periods.

He added, "If we'd had more parking we would have had more attendance."

Forty-six exhibitors participated in this year's event and Association President John Shannon presented three with plaques for outstanding booths during a preview show Thursday night, as follows: Intracoastal

Services, best of show; Shallotte Electric Supply, best double booth; and Brunswick Electric Membership Corp., best single booth.

Newton said exhibitors were very pleased with the public's response to their booths. "Quite a few have asked for the same space next year and some have asked for double booths that had single booths this year."

Some improvements are already lined up for next year's show, when outdoor exhibitors' wares will be easier to see with the addition of an outdoor lighting display, he said, and a major landscaping exhibit is planned.

"We learn something every year," he said.
