Fire Contained Near West Brunswick High

BY SUSAN USHER

Woods smoke and occasional ash darkened the skies above West Brunswick High School Thursday morning as the N.C. Forest Service worked for more than two hours to bring a debris fire behind the school under control.

The fire was burning toward the school, with the wind behind it, said Assistant County Ranger Phillip Inman. However, the 12-acre blaze was contained at a canal that marked the rear boundary of the school property. A fire line was plowed from the north side, tying in to the big ditch to encircle the blaze.

"It was a threat, but not as much as it could have been," he said. "It never got across the large canal. If it had, it would have been a real threat. In the afternoon it would have crossed."

Firefighters were concerned that overhanging limbs and branches would aid the fire in jumping the six-to-eight-foot wide canal.

"Shallotte Volunteer Fire Department was on the other (school) side of the ditch so that if anything spotted over they could get on top of it," he added.

That the fire occurred in the morning rather than afternoon was in the firefighters' favor, he explained, since the humidity is higher and temperature lower earlier in the day.

The fire started as a controlled debris fire for which a permit had been issued. It never crossed outside the landowner's property line, said Inman. The owner had counted on a small ditch on one side of the property and a drain on the other to contain the fire; they didn't.

The landowner was given a warning ticket.

Added Inman, "He just wanted to burn a small area. It burned more than he intended and it could have burned a whole lot more."

At the high school, several students expressed disappointment that classes were not dismissed early.
