

Frink, Royal Exchange Vows

Sammie Lynne Frink and Ricky Lee Royal were married May 9 in a 1 p.m. poolside ceremony at the Sunset Beach home of the bride's mother. The bride is the daughter of Mazie B. Frink of Sunset Beach and the late Sam F. Frink. The groom is the son of Palmer R. Royal of Supply and Francis Williamson of Springfield, Mo. Rev. Ivren B. Hughes of Shallotte performed the double-ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Sam Fletcher Frink III of Calabash. She wore a Dynasty original street-length white silk sheath embroidered in a scallop pattern with seed pearls and sequins. It featured long sleeves and a narrow skirt split on both sides. She wore a matching headband and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and trailing ivy. Honor attendant Pam Powell Hrubik of Shallotte wore a multicolored pastel skirt with pink sweater. Also attending the bride were her sisters, Mary Potts of Shallotte Point and Becki Frink of Los Angeles, Calif. They wore multicolored pastel sundresses. Their daughters, Meagan Potts and Samantha Lewis, respectively, were flower girls. They wore pink dresses with white pinafores and carried white wicker baskets of pink and red flowers. Music was provided by Scott Jackson of Sunset Beach. The groom's cousin, Jennifer Burris of Supply, videotaped the ceremony. Attending the bridal register were Karen Savage of Bolivia and Karen Stanley of Brick Landing. The pool area was decorated with palms, Boston ferns, red geraniums, pink and red petunias, scarlet hibiscus and clover rose hydrangeas. Sprays of magnolia decorated the entrance rails and the cake table, which also featured an arrangement of pink rice bags in a white wicker basket trimmed in pink ribbon and white lace. The bride is employed with the Brunswick County Department of Social Services. The groom is employed with David Brown Construction. Following a honeymoon in South Carolina, the newlyweds are making their home at Shallotte Point. Showers and Parties On April 9, the bride was given a shower by her sister, Mary Potts of Shallotte, at the home of the bride's mother. Assisting was Karen Savage of Bolivia. On April 17, she was the guest of honor at a shower given by the AFDC unit of the Brunswick County Department of Social Services. A May 2 bachelorette party at Rosa Linda's in Myrtle Beach, S.C., was given by Karen Stanley of Brick Landing, Karen Savage of Bolivia, Becki Frink of Los Angeles, Calif., sister of the bride, and Mary Potts of Shallotte Point, sister of the bride.

Davis Appointed To Industrial Panel

Harold Davis, a former Southport alderman, has been appointed by Gov. James Martin to a six-year term on the N.C. Industrial Commission. In the full-time paid position, he earns an annual salary of $51,420, as established by the N.C. General Assembly for the three commissioners. The commission oversees the workman's compensation act for North Carolina as it relates to businesses with five or more employees and hears appeals of claims brought before the 12 deputy commissioners. Davis, 47, and a Southport native, succeeds Charles Clay. An employee of Carolina Power & Light Co. since 1976, he most recently was plant services foreman for the Shearon Harris plant near Raleigh. Earlier in his work history, he was a member of the garment workers union and a maritime union. A Republican, he is currently chairman of Precinct 22 in Raleigh. Davis served on the Southport Board of Aldermen from 1972-1979, including one stint as mayor pro-tem; served as a four-year member and vice-chairman of the first Brunswick County Planning Board; served from 1974-78 on the state's Employment Security Commission and is currently chairman of the N.C. Energy Development Authority. His term expires in September. Appointed March 24th amid some controversy regarding his qualifications for the post, Davis noted, "No one took time to find out who Harold Davis is."
