

Player, Stiehl Wed In Fayetteville

Meredith Ann Player and Robert John Stiehl III, both of Fayetteville, were married Nov. 7, at 7 p.m., in Synder Memorial Baptist Church, Fayetteville.

Dr. James Carmack officiated the double-ring ceremony. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Robert Cogswell, pianist; Mrs. Phillip Schafer, organist; and H.B. Height, Terry Bentley and Jeff Kraushaar, trumpeters.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carlton Player Jr. of Fayetteville and Ocean Isle Beach. The groom is the son of Mrs. Donald Harris of East Poultney, Vermont, and Robert Kohn Stiehl Jr. of Kinston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory satin raw silk and re-embroidered Alencon lace gown designed by Frank Masandrea for the Diamond Collection. The ball-gown bodice featured a portrait neckline, princess styling and ruffled sleeves accented with silk hand-rolled roses, and was embellished with hand-beaded, lace trimmed re-embroidered Alencon lace with pearls and sequins. Alencon lace cameos accented the front and rear of the basque waistline. The full gathered skirt flowed into a cathedral train.

Her Juliet cap was decorated with hand-rolled silk roses, bridal rosebuds, lilies of the valley and pearl sprays, with an attached cathedral length silk illusion veil scattered with miniature rosebuds and edged with seed pearls.

Her bouquet of pastel roses and ivy cascaded to the floor.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Michael L. Williford of Fayetteville, wore a ballerina length gown of eggshell faille with jewel neckline, fitted bodice, V-back with bow at waist and sleeves accented with an inverted pleat and bow.

Bridesmaids Sandra O'Brian, Mary Pat Lothspeich, Elizabeth Herndon, Susan Smith and Allison McArthur of Fayetteville, Stephanie Shaffer of Buies Creek, Emily Winfield of Washington, N.C. and Samantha Stiehl of Kinston wore iridescent green taffeta gowns of the same design as that worn by the matron of honor.

Jessica Hall and Jo Ann Hutchins, both of Fayetteville, served as junior bridesmaid and flower girl respectively.

The groom's father was his best man. Ushers were James Ammons, Michael Williford and Judge Lacy Hair, all of Fayetteville, Richard Brownlee of Chapel Hill, Scott Stiehl of Kinston, Terry Murphy of Urbana, Va., Samuel Mann of Wilmington and Andrew Vanore of Miami, Fla.

James A. Hall III of Fayetteville was junior usher and William Van Thunan of Wychoff, New Jersey, was ringbearer.

The sanctuary was decorated with cathedral candelabras adorned with white lilies and Soyna roses, with ivory pew ribbons.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given by the bride's parents at Highland Country Club, with entertainment by concert pianist Scott Brady.

The couple will live in Fayetteville. The bride is attending Campbell University and is employed by Player Inc. as assistant manager of Westwood Shopping Center.

The groom is a graduate of N.C. State University and Campbell University School of Law. He is employed as assistant district attorney in Cumberland County.

What A Chiropractor Can Do For Allergies

BY DR. VICTORIA E. WEBSTER
Doctor of Chiropractic

Why is it that a half dozen people can eat the same foods, sleep on the same pillow, breathe the same air, or fondle the same pet, yet only one will have an allergic reaction?

It would appear that the cause of the reaction is not the allergen (the substance which triggers the allergic reaction), but that it lies in the body of the sufferer. His or her resistance to the allergen just isn't as strong as the next person's. They are not able to combat the irritant in the same way that a normal, healthy body would.

Allergic reactions may take many forms. Itching, runny nose, inflamed eyes, sneezing and coughing can make millions miserable. Hives, cold sores and canker sores may not cause you to reach for a box of tissues, but they are evidence of an allergic reaction, nevertheless. Oddly enough, a dozen different people may be allergic to the same substance, yet have a dozen entirely different reactions to it. For this reason, the various allergy relief drugs on the market may provide some temporary relief for one person yet be of no benefit to the next.

Why, then, do people turn to pills and potions for relief from their allergies? Could it be because they fail to recognize the possibility of the allergy's cause being within their own.

Just like every other function, the ability to resist infection and allergic irritations is dependent on a proper flow of nerve impulses from the brain. Since the nerves exit from the spinal cord and pass out of the spinal column between the bony segments called vertebrae, the nerve impulses can be misdirected or distorted as a spinal vertebra presses on the nerve that passes between it and its neighbor. When this happens, the part of the body served by that nerve cannot function properly.

If the pinched nerve is one which mobilizes the body defenses against allergies, it stands to reason that the victim is wide open for an allergy attack. He may be allergy-free one day and miserable the next, but he will never truly be rid of his allergy until the cause of the problem has been corrected.

Since 1895, Doctors of Chiropractic have sought to remove nerve interference by restoring the misaligned vertebrae to their proper place. They don't administer drugs, which may in themselves create an allergic reaction. Their goal is to help the patient achieve health through natural means by releasing the body's own healing powers.
