Preparing For Fair

Interchurch Council Plans First Hunger Relief Walk

Local volunteers will walk to raise money to relieve world hunger Sunday, May 5, in the first CROP Walk sponsored by the South Brunswick Interchurch Council.

CROP is the acronym for Christian Rural Overseas Program, part of the education and fund raising outreach of Church World Service, the disaster relief and development division of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

Coordinator Don Eggert, of Camp United Methodist Church in Shallotte, said the CROP Walk is an excellent opportunity for people of all ages to participate in an event to help fight hunger.

Approximately seven local churches are already committed to participating in the walk, he said, and others are welcome to join in.

Last year 75 CROP events across North Carolina raised $1.4 million for hunger relief, including $1,700 raised by the county's only other CROP event, the annual walk sponsored by the Interfaith Council serving the Southport-Oak Island area.

Most of the funds raised will be used by Church World Service for overseas relief and development work, including hunger relief work under way in Ethiopia and Sudan, and in the Middle East, where the Red Crescent (similar to the Red Cross) is helping countries cope with the thousands of refugees from the Persian Gulf War.

However, up to 25 percent of the funds raised can be designated to aid hunger relief efforts in Brunswick County.

Eggert said coordinators within various local churches will be distributing CROP information and walk registration forms in the near future.

Walkers seek and collect pledges of donations based on the number of miles walked.

More information on the walk or CROP is available from Eggert at 754-5082, evenings.

CEDAR GROVE AREA NEWS

Church Celebrates 119th

BY BARBARA T. HEWETT

Cedar Grove Missionary Baptist Church is celebrating its 119th anniversary this week with a series of special worship programs.

Tonight (Thursday) the Rev. Leo Stevenson will minister the word, with his church choir to minister in music.

On Friday, the service is sponsored by the captains of November and December, with a program of gospel music planned.

The celebration closes Sunday with the Rev. Freeman Gause and the combined choir in charge of the 11 a.m. service. A fellowship luncheon will be served in the church dining hall, followed by the evening service at 3 p.m. The Rev. David Flowers will preach.

There will be a birthday rally, with each month's participants reporting their offerings.

The public is invited.

Choir To Rehearse
The Ocean View Mass Senior Choir will rehearse Monday, March 18, at 7:30 p.m. at Pleasant View Baptist Church at Grissetown.

Director Elizabeth Jenrette and pianist Vicki Jenrette ask that all members be present and on time.

Anniversary Set

The youth choir of Pleasant Grove Missionary Baptist Church will hold its anniversary program, Sunday March 17, at 4 p.m.

Several local choirs have been invited to participate, and the public is welcome also.

Workshop Planned

A workshop for leaders and potential officers of the Ocean View Union will be held Saturday, March 16, at Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church in Longwood, starting at 9:30 a.m.

Instructors will be Mazie Stanley, seniors; Louise Gause, young adults; Elizabeth Jenrette, supervisors; Felicia Stanley, ushers.

Program Enjoyed

A program of music was enjoyed by attendees of the annual October in March program held March 3 at Cedar Grove Missionary Baptist Church.

Featured was Pleasant View, with Pamela Hankins and Sandy Brown as musician and lead vocalist. Other groups included the Mt. Zion and Cedar Grove young adult choirs, The McCloud Singers, Zion Hill Choir and soloists Ola Frink and Arvella Marlowe.

Makes Debut

Jasmine Harrison, recently crowned Little Miss Dynamics for the Ocean View Woman's Home and Foreign Mission Union, made her first official appearance March 1. She sang a solo at the youth talent display at Union Missionary Baptist Church in Tabor City. She is the daughter of Wndy Harrison of Little Prong Missionary Baptist Church, Ash.
