Girls Needed For Pageant

Contestants are needed for the 1993 North Carolina Little Miss and Tiny Miss Fourth of July Pageant to be held June 19 in Southport.

Brunswick County girls between the ages of six and eight are eligible for the Little Miss competition. Girls ages four and five will compete for the Tiny Miss crown.

Little Miss contestants will be judged on interview, sportswear and party dress. Tiny Miss hopefuls will be judged on group interview and party dress.

There will be a limit of 10 contestants in each age division. The entry fee is $45, according to pageant director Pamela Tyner.

Applications will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. They are available at the United Carolina Bank Sawdust Trail office in Southport.

The pageant is an official event of the N.C. Fourth of July Festival held annually in Southport.

For information or an application, call Tyner during the day at 457-1442 or at night at 253-5891.

Talent Contest Set

Dramatics, vocals, comedy and dance will be featured at the West Brunswick High School Talent Show set Thursday, Feb. 18, at 7 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

Admission is $2, said spokesman Terrell Jenrette and Keisha Butler. Sponsored by the Future Homemakers of America (FHA) and Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) chapter, proceeds will be used to help send members to district and state competition.

ENTERTAINMENT BRIEFS

Wildlife Expo February 20-21

Wilmington will play host to more than 50 wildlife artists during the second Coastal Carolina Wildlife Exposition.

A variety of painters, carvers and sculptors from along the Eastern Seaboard have been selected for the expo, which largely features pieces depicting coastal wildlife.

The expo will take place in the Coastline Convention Center, 905 Nutt St., in downtown Wilmington.

The Carolina Decoy Collectors and Carvers Association will be on hand in the trade area buying, selling and swapping antique decoys. Several lectures on decoy carving and collecting will be given, including a presentation by Grayson Chesler Jr., former resident carver from the Smithsonian Institute.

During the show, the public may visit the decoy room and talk with collectors.

Admission is $5, and children under 12 will be admitted free. Two-day passes will be $7.

Hours are 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. Saturday, and noon until 5 p.m. Sunday.

Free Valentine's Dance

A free Valentine's Dance will be held by the Brunswick County Democratic Party Saturday, Feb. 13, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Spokesman Janis Simmons said the dance will be held at the Democratic headquarters building on U.S. 17 Business north of Supply.

Music will be provided by disc jockeys.

Valentine's Day Concert

On Valentine's Day, fall in love all over again with the music of the Artie Shaw Orchestra.

The big band sound of this renowned orchestra comes to Thalian Hall's main stage for an 8 p.m. concert on Feb. 14 featuring such classic hits as "Star Dust" and "Begin the Beguine."

The Artie Shaw Orchestra was reborn in 1984 under the leadership of clarinetist Dick Johnson 30 years after Shaw, convinced that the public no longer wanted to hear his type of music, gave up the clarinet.

Johnson toured with a series of big bands, including Charlie Spivak, Buddy Morrow, Genny Goodman and Xavier Cugat. He has recorded extensively for the Concord Jazz label, with longtime friend and virtuoso pianist Dave McKenna.

Tickets are $16, $14 and $10 with discounts available for members in Thalian Hall. For reservations or further information, call 1-800-523-2820.

Singers Featured

The Southport Sea Chanty Singers, a group of retired fishermen directed by Eugene Gore, will be featured at 3 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 20, as part of Cape Fear Museum's ongoing Live Performance Series.

The singers will explain how the unusual sound and rhythm of work songs facilitated the fishing process.

Cape Fear Museum is located at 814 Market Street, Wilmington.

The performance is just one of the varied offerings of the regional museum in addition to its permanent and rotating displays relating to the area's history and culture. Information on admission and memberships is available from the museum, 919-341-4350.

To Wed March 20

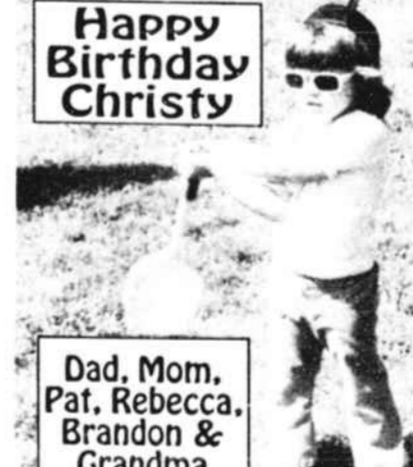

Jerry and Elizabeth Simmons of Ash have announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Angela Renee Simmons, to Daniel Scott Street, son of Billy and Helen Street of Shallotte. Their wedding will take place 4 p.m. Saturday, March 20, at Calvary Baptist Church in Shallotte. All friends and relatives are invited.
