Winnabow VFD Sets Barbecue

Cost will be $3 or $4.50 for a "super plate."

St. Brendan Church Plans To Build

The parish served by St. Brendan the Navigator Catholic Church is moving forward with plans to construct a permanent church building.

Bids are being accepted through Sept. 27 for a large, variable-capacity worship facility that the parish would like to have available by mid-summer 1994.

Architect John Fulton of Balzar and Associates, Roanoke, Va., designed the facility in response to the double challenge of growth and a large seasonal influx of vacationers.

On some weekends during the tourist season, as many as 1,000 visitors have joined 500 local residents for worship. That figure is expected to double, possibly within the next 20 years.

As planned, the new facility will seat 540 people, with standing space for another 90 worshippers during Mass. Portable room dividers can reduce the seating to 310.

Typically, St. Brendan's conducts three, and sometimes four, Masses during a weekend. The flexible arrangement will serve weekend attendance ranging from 670 to 1,650. Daily services will be held in a small 40-seat chapel.

While this might be the largest capacity worship facility in Brunswick County, said the Rev. Francis Maloney, it will occasionally be too small.

On heavily crowded occasions such as Easter, the adjoining social hall, currently the worship facility as well, can serve an overflow crowd of up to 300 through the use of a television system.

Fulton's master plan for the parish's 11-acre tract on U.S. 17 just south of the bypass calls for retaining both the parish hall and a house on the site.

No date has been set for the groundbreaking.
