Gauntlet Hosts Brunswick Cup

Brunswick County's version of the Ryder Cup, a match between the top American and European golfers, will be played Jan. 18 at The Gauntlet at St. James Plantation.

Instead of the Ryder Cup's international competition, the Brunswick Cup will feature competition among teams from 10 local golf courses. The winning team will hold the cup for one year.

Tournament coordinator John

Lawrence, head professional at The Gauntlet, said the event is being planned to promote good will and competition in the Brunswick County golfing community.

Teams from The Gauntlet, Fox Squirrel, Lockwood Folly, Sea Trail, Bald Head Island, Sandpiper Bay, Brierwood, Oak Island, Carolina Shores and Brick Landing will compete in the tournament, scheduled for 11 a.m.
