CLUB BRIEFS

Shell Club To Visit Bald Head Island March 15 For Tour

The Beachcombers Shell Club of the South Brunswick Islands will take a trip to Bald Head Island March 15.

Members will meet at 10:30 a.m. at Southport's Bald Head Island ferry terminal. Cost, to be paid at the ferry terminal, is $29, including lunch and a two-hour tour.

The club needs at least 26 participants. For more information, call Fannie Pennel at 842-4131.

Alaskan Visitors

Two visiting Rotarians from Anchorage, Alaska, met at they signed in at the South Brunswick Islands Rotary Club last week.

They had not previously met, as they attend different clubs in Anchorage, but "enjoyed the extraordinary coincidence of a meeting so far from home in southern North Carolina," said assistant secretary Jean Mearns.

Members "make up" at other clubs if they can't attend their own, "no matter where in the world they may be," Mearns explained.

"This helps to form the international bond between people of every culture who join together in the fellowship of Rotary to work for peace in the world," she said.

AARP To Meet

Calabash Chapter 3640, American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) will hold a buffet luncheon at the Surf Club in North Myrtle Beach on March 3 at noon.
