Gore To Be Fourth Fest Grand Marshal

Lt. Harry W. Gore Jr. has been chosen parade marshal for this year's N.C. Fourth of July Festival in Southport.

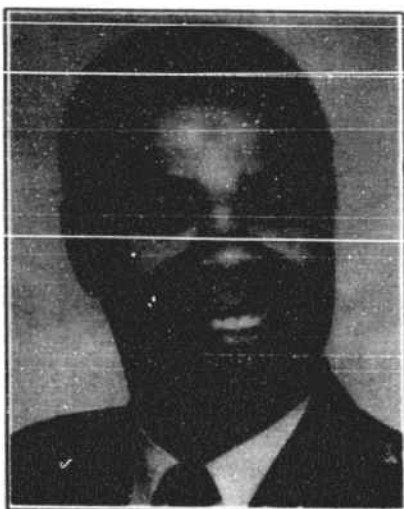

The festival, to take place July 1-4, is the state's official observance of Independence Day.

Gore, 45, is the son of Harry W. Gore Sr. of Southport and Olivia Sloan Gore of Wilmington. He was graduated from Hampton High School in 1968 and from Virginia Military Institute in 1972 with a bachelor's degree in math and a commission into the U.S. Air Force as a second lieutenant.

Gore entered active duty and attended undergraduate pilot training at Craig Air Force Base in Selma, Ala., and remained at the base after becoming a T-37 instructor pilot. His next assignment took him to Charleston Air Force Base in South Carolina, where he piloted C-141 transports. During this time he traveled extensively, primarily through Europe and the Middle East, as well as to Asia, Africa and South America.

After earning a master's degree in applied mathematics from N.C. State University, Gore served a four-year tour on the faculty of the U.S. Air Force Academy. He next assignment was at Travis AFB, Calif., where he resumed flying C-141 transports. From there, he traveled throughout the Pacific, with occasional trips to Europe, South America and Australia.

After four years of this assignment, Gore was selected for a one-year remote assignment as assistant deputy chief of staff for plans and programs at Headquarters 7th Air Force, Osan Air Base, Korea. After a short assignment as an airline mission controller at the 22nd Air Force Operations Center at Travis AFB, he was assigned to Scott AFB, Ill., where he assumed duties as cell chief at the newly formed Tanker Airlift Control Center. In October 1992, he was appointed to his current position as chief, readiness and global support division.

Gore's military decorations include the Meritorious Service Medal with four oak leaf clusters, Air Force Commendation Medal, Combat Readiness Medal and Humanitarian Service Medal with one device.

He has two children, Harry III, 22, and Christin, 19, and a granddaughter.

Causey Reports N.C. Wins Five State Awards At Meet

Gwen Causey of Supply, state president of U.S. Daughters of 1812, reported that North Carolina won five awards at the April national meeting in Washington, D.C., when Snap Dragon Chapter met May 14 in Morehead City.

The state had a 19 percent increase in membership last year, she added.

Causey challenged members to donate books about North Carolina records and families to the small collection about this state in the society's library at its national headquarters.

Theodocia Musselwhite of Shallotte, nominating committee chair, presented a slate of new officers which includes Maie Hobbs of Wilmington as registrar and Causey as chaplain. Elizabeth Betz of Cedar Point is the new chapter president.

Beauty Group Meets

Sunset Beach Beautification Committee held its annual luncheon May 11 at Tamer's Restaurant.

New officers elected are Peggy

Smyly, president; Adele Stephens, vice president; Edie Hoff, secretary; and Nancy Nappy, treasurer.

The beautification group, whose mission is to "practice random acts of kindness and senseless beauty," strives to improve the environment in the Sunset Beach area.
