Baldwin Out, Bishop In As Scorpion Grid Coach

Garry Bishop has taken over as the head football coach at North Brunswick High School following the resignation of Gary Baldwin.

Baldwin, the head football coach since 1990, stepped down last week but will continue to serve as the school's athletic director.

The Scorpions were 0-10 last season and have lost 19 consecutive games, the second-longest losing streak in the state.

"I just felt like a change may do them some good," Baldwin said Tuesday. "I just seemed to have a problem getting the kids out here and maybe a change will help."

Bishop was serving as an assistant football coach under Baldwin. Bishop coached the boys' varsity basketball team and girls' track team last year. He has previously served as North's junior varsity basketball coach.

"Garry's been with me the whole time as an assistant. He'll do a good job with them," Baldwin said.

In three seasons, the Scorpions were 1-29 under Baldwin. North Brunswick did not field a varsity football team in 1992 because school officials didn't think there were there were enough upperclassmen to be competitive.

North Brunswick will battle the Richlands Wildcats in a scrimmage game Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Scorpion Field.

The Scorpions are scheduled to open the regular season next Friday, Aug. 26, against visiting Topsail.
