South Brunswick Seniors Nominated For Award

Two South Brunswick High School seniors have been nominated for the Wendy's High School Heisman Award and could win $5,000 for their school, said principal Sue Sellers.

Kimyatta Anderson and John Bunting were nominated for the newly-created national program that recognizes academic achievement, community service and athletic accomplishment.

Anderson is a member of the track team and is active in cheerleading, National Honor Society, Health Occupations Students of America and has served as president of the local chapter of the Region O Council for the Advancement of Minorities in Engineering.

Bunting is a member of the soccer team and is active in National Honor Society, according to a news release from the high school.

The award is sponsored by Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburgers restaurants and the Downtown Athletic Club in association with the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Principals at the nation's estimated 25,000 high schools were invited to nominate one male and one female student-athlete for the award competition.

Entries will be evaluated by the scholastic review service CTB/McGraw-Hill to narrow the field to 1,200 regional finalists and then to 120 regional award winners.

A panel of judges from the worlds of business, media, education, politics and sports will then review the 120 regional award winners and name 24 national semifinalists who will receive $1,000 each for their school.

Twelve national finalists, one boy and one girl representing six geographic regions, also will be selected. They will be invited to New York City in December to participate in the Heisman Trophy activities at the Downtown Athletic Club.

One boy and one girl will be selected as national award winners and be recognized during the Heisman Trophy national telecast on Dec. 10.

The two national award winners will receive $5,000 each for their school, and the 10 other finalists will receive $3,000 each for their school.

Anderson and Bunting will be presented with certificates of recognition at the South Brunswick awards day program next May.

"These two students represent the outstanding efforts that many students at South Brunswick High School make each day in the classroom, on the playing field and in the community," Sellers said.

"We are especially proud to recognize them with this honor and we hope one or both of them is invited to New York City this December."
