

Representative Redwine On Study Panels

State Rep. E. David Redwine (D-Brunswick) of Ocean Isle has been appointed to two legislative study commissions by Speaker of the House Daniel T. Blue Jr.

Redwine will serve as co-chairman of the Welfare Reform Study Commission through Feb. 1, 1995, and has been reappointed to the Mental Health Study Commission for a term that ends June 30, 1995.

A bill introduced by Redwine creating the reform commission was approved during the 1994 crime session. The panel will look at North Carolina's existing system in light of reform efforts under way in other states and being considered at the national level.

"I thought North Carolina ought to jump in the middle of that and see what we can do to break that cycle," said Redwine. "We can't keep on having as many people in that dependent state. We need to remove barriers, not to make it easier to get on welfare, but to get off of it."

"I think they should have to do something positive. If the government is going to pay them because of their circumstances then there ought to be some work involved, either minimum wage or public works, something, for those who are able to work."

Attempts to smear Ronald Hewett's good name will not work!

A smear campaign has been launched out of desperation by a few people who desperately don't want Ronald Hewett to be your Sheriff.

You and I know that this campaign of smears will not work. Even those responsible for it should know that lies can never replace the truth.

Why would this outrageous lie be drummed up? It is simply a smoke screen to divert attention from the issues in this campaign.

Since Ronald Hewett is the most qualified candidate, the most experienced candidate, the best trained candidate and the best educated candidate for Sheriff, his opponents had to make up something off the wall to say about him.

It is a desperate act by a desperate few who desperately don't want Ronald Hewett to be your Sheriff. No doubt there will be other attempts to smear his good name as election day nears.

But folks know better than to believe these smear tactics. They know and trust Ronald Hewett.

For over a decade in law enforcement, Brunswick County folks have been calling on and counting on Ronald Hewett. He is a trusted friend who has been there when you needed him and he will be there the next time you call.

If you don't know Ronald Hewett, ask your neighbor about him. More than likely your neighbor will know and recommend Ronald Hewett, a lifelong Brunswick County resident.

He has been preparing himself to be your

Sheriff ever since he was sworn in at Holden Beach in 1983 as a police officer. He is running his election campaign on the issues because he knows you don't want to take good law enforcement for granted.

This professional law enforcement officer is a 1985 graduate of UNC-Wilmington, where he was an honor student and earned a B.A. degree in Criminal Justice. He achieved N.C. Advanced Law Enforcement Certification in 1989.

He made a name for himself as national and state D.A.R.E. Officer of the Year. D.A.R.E. stands for Drug Abuse Resistance Education. Its purpose is to educate our young people about the dangers of drugs in hopes of keeping them off drugs and out of courts and jails.

Ronald Hewett also wants the opportunity to make a name for himself as Brunswick County Sheriff. He has the background, the education, the leadership ability and integrity to run the entire Sheriff's department.

Fighting the drug traffickers will be a top priority when Ronald Hewett becomes Sheriff, because so many other crimes are caused by drugs.

Whether it's in the classroom, the courtroom or on the streets, you can depend on Ronald Hewett to be tough on those who try to sell drugs.

Just disregard the desperate attempts to divert attention from the real issues in this political campaign.
