

Leland Girl, 15, Accuses Ex-Boyfriend Of Kidnapping, Assault

A 15-year-old Leland Middle School student said she was kidnapped Friday evening by her ex-boyfriend, who allegedly tried to rape her on the kitchen floor of his trailer, according to a crime report on file at the Brunswick County Sheriff's Department.

The girl's mother told Deputy Anthony Key that her daughter was walking down the road beside their trailer in Old Mill Mobile Home Park when her 19-year-old former boyfriend approached her.

"He said, 'Come closer. I have something to tell you,' then grabbed her by both arms and forced her into his trailer," the report said.

The young man asked her to dance and talked about their former relationship, Key reported. But when she tried to move toward the door, two other unidentified men blocked her way.

Then the ex-boyfriend "chased her around the house" until she ran into the kitchen, picked up a knife and said, "Leave me alone." According to the report, she put down the knife and moved toward the door, but he grabbed her again and pushed her face-down to the floor.

He was trying to remove the girl's shirt and telling her he wanted to have sex when another man came to the window and warned that the girl's sister was coming.

An investigation into the incident is continuing. No arrests had been made in the case Tuesday.
