Rabon Faces Leonard In District 4

Tom B. Rabon Sr. of Winnabow hopes to win his first bid for re-election after defeating Tom Simmons by a margin of 58 percent to 42 percent in the Democratic Party primary in May. Republican Theron (Woody) Leonard of Leland tossed his hat into the ring when Pete Barnette withdrew from the race after being unopposed in the Republican primary.

Each was asked: 1. Do you think Brunswick County should build and operate a new landfill, or should we pay to have solid waste hauled outside the county for disposal? Why?

Leonard: Pay for the service. The county has worked out a longterm disposal contract at a reasonable price. As long as someone else is willing to dispose of our solid waste, we can keep the landfills out of our residents' communities.

Rabon: I believe our county's waste should be hauled out of the county, incinerated and turned into energy if at all possible. In order to protect the fragile environment there in Brunswick County, we must find a solution other than the establishment of another landfill in this coun-

2. Are you in favor of the county zoning ordinance as written? If not, what specific changes would you like to make in the law?

Leonard: The current zoning ordinance is an honest first effort at zoning in our county. I don't know the full extent of the ordinance, but I do know that problems keep cropping up with it. Recommending specific changes would require studying the ordinance.

Rabon: Due to the influx of people to Brunswick County, I believe a zoning ordinance is essential. A number of changes have been made to the current ordinance and I believe that as inequities are discovered in the system, changes should continue to be made. It may take a few years before we have an ordinance that is best suited for Brunswick County.

3. The commissioners have received frequent complaints about the need for a county noise ordinance. Do you feel such a law is necessary? Why or why not?

Leonard: Not at the current time. Brunswick County is still rural to a great extent, with residents who don't want a lot of government control over their daily lives. However, with our continued rapid growth, it is a concern for the future. We do need to examine options now.

Rabon: During the past two years, I have listened to numerous comments, both pro and con, on this subject. Both sides in this controversy have legitimate concerns. At the present time, I do not have the answer to this problem.

the Republican nomination.

Each candidate was asked:

Warren: I feel we should contract to have our solid waste hauled from the county. By going with a regional landfill concept, we can help improve our recycling goals and protect our coastal natural resources.

2. Are you in favor of the county zoning ordinance as written? If not, what specific changes would you like to make in the law?

Warren: I support the zoning ordinance. However, I am not pleased with some obvious inconsistencies in the ordinance. We need as county commissioners to continue to evaluate and correct problems we see in the ordinance by using the county planning board and the zoning board of adjustment.

Simmons: To the best of my knowledge, the county zoning ordinances as written are OK. But a special request may need to be granted in as it is in towns that have an ordinance. A farm, for example, needs to be zoned as farmland.

3. The commissioners have received frequent complaints about the need for a county noise ordinance. Do you feel such a law is necessary? Why or why not?

Simmons: You may need a law to be able to enforce something, but some people may go to the extreme with an ordinance. Someone may complain, for example, over nothing (such as a piece of heavy equipment). But, of course, we all know you can't lower the noise level of a bulldozer while it does its work.

Warren: As we continue to become a suburban county, noise volume will increase along with other crimes such as robbery, breaking and entering, drugs and assaults. We need to be certain, if we adopt an ordinance, it is enforceable and does not bog down sheriff patrol officers from investigations and arrests of our violent crimes.
