

Mulcahy Yard Earns November Honors

George and Dorothy Mulcahy stand in their yard at 7 Pinewood Drive, Calabash, which won November Yard of the Month honors from Carolina Shores Garden Club. Their colorful yard features a berry-loaded pyracantha espaliered against a wall, a pink-flowering camellia, potted begonias and blooming chrysanthemums among the shrubbery.

Museum Volunteers Available To Present Programs About Art

Shallotte residents George M. McDaniel Jr. and Randy Hohnstreiter, and Patricia Ashburner of Southport, outreach volunteers for the N.C. Museum of Art, are available to present free slide talks in Brunswick County.

General slide programs based on the museum's permanent collection and on special exhibitions are available for schools, civic and cultural groups and other organizations that request them.

The museum's outreach volunteer corps is made up of 219 men and women from 71 counties across the state. They have completed day-long workshops at the museum to qualify as outreach volunteers. Another workshop is scheduled on Saturday, March 18, at the museum in Raleigh.

Groups interested in scheduling a museum slide program should call Nancy Brantley, assistant to the director for public programs, at (919)833-1935.

The N.C. General Assembly funds the outreach program.
