Golf Privilege Cards On Sale

Looking to get an early start on Christmas shopping?

If there's a golfer on your list, the American Lung Association of North Carolina has just what you need—the 1995 Golf Privilege Card.

Card holders are entitled to free or reduced greens fees at more than 250 golf courses in the Carolinas and Virginia, including 13 in Brunswick County.

Cards are on sale for $40 each, or holiday shoppers can buy three cards and receive a fourth one free.

Brunswick County courses included are Brick Landing, Brierwood, Brunswick Plantation, Carolina Shores, Fox Squirrel, Oak Island, Ocean Harbour, Ocean Isle Beach, Olde Fort, Sandpiper Bay, Sea Trail, The Gauntlet at St. James Plantation and The Pearl.

The book also includes Beau Rivage, Duck Haven and The Cape in Wilmington and several South Carolina courses such as Buck Creek, River Hills and The Gauntlet at Myrtle West.

For more information or to order a golf privilege card, call the American Lung Association office in Wilmington at 910-395-5864 or 1-800-821-6205.

Dogs Advance

Bladenboro's Bulldogs defeated Mount Airy 29-19 last Friday to advance to the semifinals of the state 1A high school football playoffs.

Coach Jake Smith's Bulldogs (10-3) will host Murphy (13-0) in the western championship game this Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Bladenboro finished third in the Three Rivers 1A/2A Conference and has won six straight games.

Murphy, coming off a 3-7 season last year, won the state 1A championship in 1986, 1987 and 1991.

Brierwood Ladies

Janet Twomey shot net 52 to win the top flight in the Brierwood Ladies Golf Association tournament last Tuesday.

Golfers dropped scores on their two worst holes and used full handicaps. Runners-up in Flight A were Ann Causer with net 56 and Rose Reiter and Nel Justice with rounds of 58.

Flight B winners included Marie Dolan with 53, Shirley Groff with 54 and Joan Cowie with 55. Helene Baker and Pat Wolff tied for fourth place with scores of 58.

In Flight C, Janice Owens led the way with a net 53. She was followed by Esther Smith with 58, Sally Dye with 59 and Molly Hoke with 60.

Reporting birdies were Causer at the fifth hole, Dolan at the eighth and Twomey at the 15th.

Carolina Shores Men

George Sandberg and Bob Lovaty tied for the individual low net with

IS YOUR NUMBER UP?

There's only one way to know if you've got high blood pressure - see your doctor for a checkup. Because high blood pressure isn't something you can feel. But left untreated, it could develop into a serious heart problem. That's why the sooner your doctor gets your blood pressure under control, the better your chances. You should also call your doctor immediately if you notice any of these warning signs of a heart attack: chest pressure, shortness of breath, pain or tingling in the arm, jaw and neck pain, anxiety, nausea or dizziness. And if you're referred to a specialist, take heart: The Coastal Heart Center serves Wilmington and the Carolina coast. And that's a comforting thought.
