

Demonstration Club Of Whiteston Meets With Mrs. L. L. Lane

The Whiteston Home Demonstration club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. L. Lane. The meeting was opened by singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," after which the collect was repeated.

Miss Gladys Hamrick gave a talk on textile selections. She had samples of different kind of material which she tested just to show what they were made of.

Mrs. Dewitt Winslow, the garden reader, had charge of the program which proved to be very interesting. Mrs. Eunice Winslow told what kind of crops to plant in March. Mrs. Dempsey Winslow read a poem, "Spring Furrows." Mrs. Lucius Winslow told how to prevent mildew on snap beans.

"Set Strawberries This Spring" was given by Miss Reby Winslow.

A very interesting contest was then enjoyed. It was called, "the farmers love letter." Mrs. Willie Gregory won the prize.

The hostess served delicious candied popcorn and fruit.

Those present were: Mesdames L. L. Lane, John T. Lane, Charlie Baker, John Lassiter, Arba Winslow, Lucius Winslow, Dempsey Winslow, Roy Winslow, Wallace Baker, Dewitt Winslow, A. U. Winslow, Mercer Winslow, Willie Gregory, William Eason, Howard Williams, Lafayette Lane, Misses Lucille Lane, Della Winslow, Annie Winslow, Edna Winslow, Reby Winslow, Edith White, Lena Winslow, and Miss Gladys Hamrick.

Will Explain Modern Fertilizing Methods

Recent studies in the mechanical application of fertilizers for cotton will furnish the subject for a radio talk on the Carolina Farm Features program on Saturday, March 20.

Dr. Emerson R. Collins, agronomist at the North Carolina Experiment Station, will explain in the broadcast the progress which has been made along this line.

The experiments in fertilizer placement around cotton were started in 1931 and practically the same placements were used in 1932 and 1933. The outline of the experiment was revised in 1934 to take advantage of the information obtained in the previous years.

Some of the placements which had proved but of little value were dropped and other placements that offered promise were added. The second outline was carried out in 1934 and 1935, and revised for the 1936 season.

The experimental plots are located at the Upper Coastal Plain Experiment Station near Rocky Mount on a Norfolk sandy loam soil.

The Carolina Farm Features schedule in full for the week of March 16-20 follows: Monday, Dr. E. C. Halverson, "Spoiled Feed and Loss of Livestock"; Tuesday, Dr. I. V. Shunk, "Plants That Give Light"; Wednesday, Boone Trail School Program; Thursday, Wake County Home Demonstration Day; Friday, N. M. Williams, "Caring for Baby Chickens"; and Saturday, Dr. E. R. Collins, "Improved Methods for Fertilizer Placement on Cotton."

Williams Gives Tips On Crop Fertilizers

North Carolina farmers spend 20 to 30 million dollars every year for fertilizer.

Yet many of them do not get full value for the money they spend because they do not apply the right mixture to their crops, said C. B. Williams, head of the State College agronomy department.

The kind of fertilizer to apply depends upon the crops grown and the type of the soil.

The amount a grower will find profitable to use depends to some extent upon the price he can expect to get for his crops, Williams added.

When prices are up, the grower can afford to apply more fertilizer to get the highest yield consistent with good farming practices, he continued.

For the major crops grown in the State on average soils, and with a prospect of average prices, Williams recommends the following fertilizer applications:

In coastal plain: Tobacco, 800 to 1,000 pounds of 3-8-6 to the acre, the fertilizer mixed according to recommendations of the tobacco committee. Cotton, 450 to 500 pounds of 4-8-4. Corn and small grains, 250 to 300 pounds of 4-8-4. Legumes, 200 to 300 pounds of 2-8-4. Late sweet potatoes, 800 to 800 pounds of 3-3-3.

In piedmont and mountain counties: Tobacco, 800 to 1,000 pounds of 3-10-6 (piedmont) or 3-12-6 (mountains) to the acre. Cotton, 400 to 500 pounds of 4-10-4. Corn and small grains, 250 to 300 pounds of 4-10-4. Legumes, 200 to 300 pounds of 2-10-4. Irish potatoes, mountains, 800 to 1,000 pounds of 3-8-6.

Where soils have been built up with legumes, Williams added, the amount of nitrogen in the fertilizer can be reduced slightly.
