LIMITED FUND

Sixty-three Apply For Aid; More Request Blanks

The local welfare department has been instructed by the State Department to study each case of application for old age assistance very carefully before making awards and to keep in mind that the amount of money allotted for this county must last a year, setting forth that if too many persons are granted old age assistance the funds will be used up within six months, and that no more money would be forthcoming.

"Please see to it," writes Nathan H. Yelton, Director of the Division of Public Assistance, of Raleigh, that applicants being cared for by relatives in comfortable homes who are able to do so are not put on this program, as this is not the intention of the program."

This situation is due to the fact that state funds for carrying out the provisions of the new legislation are Sixty-three applications have already been filed with Miss Ruth Davenport, Superintendent of Public Welfare, who says that probably a dozen others have called for the purpose of applying, but that, due to the fact the supply of application blanks had been exhausted, they were unable to do so. More blanks are expected early next week.

Misa-Davenport is very anxious to make as many investigations of cases during the month of July as possible, in order that checks may be sent out during the month. How-ever, no checks can be received im-mediately, as all cases have to be investigated and presented to the Welfare Board before final disposition is made.

With Pocket Knife And Pistol

DENIES CHARGE

Brothers Charged With Intimidating State's Witness

Armed with an old pistol and a long-bladed pocket knife, Malloyed Hunter, nineteen year-old colored youth of the Chappells Hill section of the county, apparently without provocation, went on a rampage on last Sunday which drew him a six-months road sentence and a fine of fifty dollars in Recorder's Court on Tuesday, the road sentence to be suspended upon payment of the fine and costs of court and upon good behavior for two years.

The boy, who was not represented by counsel, plead not guilty to the charge of assault with a deadly weapon, but the testimony of Riley Welch, colored, which was corroborated by that of his wife, was to the effect that Hunter advanced upon him with the knife open and held in a threatening manner, cursing and threatening to kill Welch, and upon putting the knife in his picket drew a pistol and fired. Welch, it was testified, grabbed Hunter's arm and threw him on the ground, holding him while his young son took the pistol from his hand.

Welch, according to the testimony. immediately came to Hertford and reported the matter, turning the pistol over to the officer. Hunter was arrested and placed in jail.

The defendant took the stand in his own behalf and denied having a gun or taking the knife from his pocket, swearing that the gun was brought to Welch by one of his child-

Two brothers of the defendant, Willie Hunter and Cam Overton Huna state's witness and with assault Blanchard recently. with a deadly weapon, and the state introduced testimony to show that the boys had abused and threatened Riley Welch on Sunday night following the arrest of their brother. The trial was continued until next Tuesday when it was shown that witnesses for the defense in this case had not been subpoenagd.

As the result of an affray which occurred on Saturday night, in which Johnnie White and Preston Nixon two young white men, were involved. Johnnie White was fined five dollars, and prayer for judgment was contained against Preston Nixon upon payment of the court costs and upon payment for repairs to the eye glasses of Johnnie White, which were broken during the affray. Russell Nixon was found not guilty.

Sentences in former judgments against Bob Ivey, white man of the Hog Neck section of the county, were ordered into effect when it was shown that Ivey, whose sentence had been suspended upon the condition that he not be found within the county for two years, had violated the ed to attend this meeting, and all court order. He was sent to the roads for eighteen months.

NOT A FAIRY STORY

swampy undergrowth by the roadside-No, this is a news story and not a revised version of Little Red Riding Hood, nor yet of The Three

Bears. The big black bear really did leap from the swampy undergrowth by the roadside, right in front of F. J. Dobson's car. It happened on Tues-Williamston, on the road leading to Washington, N. C. The huge beast rolled over as the left-hand fender struck its hear, two hundred and ninety pounds of bear rolled over and fell in a black heap. Mr. Dobson says he jammed on his brakes and by that time the pack of hounds were tackling the wounded animal, and he

The big black bear leaped from the er in the week and told the bear story in the presence of this reporter. Never in all his life, he said, had he ever experienced anything like this. He had left Washington only a few minutes previously and was but a short distance from the city when he noticed a small group of people, a number of men, some women and a day morning, some 18 miles from few children, talking and gesticulating excitedly, and he wondered idly what it was about. Immediately he heard the baying of hounds, and before he had time to take further notice the big bear had leaped from the swamp straight in the path of his car.

It was all over very quickly, he said. He didn't have time scarcely to realize what really was happening. tackling the wounded animal, and he looked behind in time to see Garland Woodard, who lives hear the scene, make the kill with a shot gun. Though he did render very material aid to the hunters by happening along the road at that particular time. Mr. Dobson is not a bear hunter. He is a drug salegman, from St. Louis, representing a well known from the hear and stayed to see the animal weighed. It isn't every day a man runs over a big bear on the main highway of a thickly populated community.

Cotton Blossoms

Appearing Early

Cotton blossoms are showing up early in Perquimans this year. The first one brought to Hertford was from the farm of W. T. Smith, at Belvidere. This one was pink on Saturday, when it was first seen, showing that it had blossomed the previous day, which was June 25.

Ward Hunter, of the Beech Spring community, found a pink cotton blossom on Sunday, showing it had been open on Saturday. On Monday Mr. Hunter broke off a branch in his field on which two white blossoms had appeared. A. J. Winslow reported several on Wednesday.

When cotton blossoms, as all farmers know, it is a white flower. The flower turns pink within twenty-four hours, so that when a pink bloom appears in anybody's field it is evident that the bloom had been there, a white flower, the day before.

So far as can be ascertained, the 25th of June is as early as cotton has ever been known to blossom in Perquimans. Usually it is some days later, and formerly the 4th of July was considered early for a cotton blossom to appear. Nowadays there are generally plenty of blossoms in the Perquimans cotton fields on the 4th of July. There was one year, not so long ago, according to old Perquimans farmers, when cotton blossomed the last week in June, as it is doing this year, with a few blossoms appearing as early as June 25.
